ITALIANS WIN NAVY BATTLE; SINK TRANSPORT BIG U. S. CONCRETE SHIPYARD COMING HERE

ESTUARY TO BE LOCATION OF ANOTHER WAR PLANT

Government Island in Brooklyn Basin Chosen as Site for Huge New Industry That Will Build Stone Vessels

TO END DISPUTE OF OWNERSHIP

Improvements Estimated at $10,000,000; Will Employ From 3000 to 4000 Men; Redwood City Second Choice

Government Island in Oakland harbor has been recommended as the first choice of the special board, representing the department of concrete ships, U. S. Shipping Board, for the location of one of the five concrete shipbuilding plants to be established by the Federal Government. Speedy action on the part of the cities of Oakland and Alameda in affirming the choice of the Government to the land will assure the recommendation receiving favorable action, it was indicated today by officials who have had a hand in the investigation of suitable sites.

A meeting of the harbor committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce will be called at once, H. C. Capwell, president of the organization, announced today. The committee will take up the problem of obtaining concerted action by Oakland and Alameda to cooperate with the Government in locating the shipyard here. A plan of the city council of Alameda last night to inform the Government of the willingness of Alameda to expedite settlement of the question of title to the land, and similar action is expected to be taken by Oakland. It is also possible that a movement may be initiated here to have Oakland, or Alameda county, offer to assist the Government in making bridge and rail connections between the mainland and Government Island. Redwood City offered the Government $100,000 in improvements if the choice of location were made there, and it is thought that this community may be urged to do as much.

IS LOCATED IN BROOKLYN BASIN

Government Island, about sixty acres in area, is located in Brooklyn Basin of the Oakland estuary. It is partly reclaimed land, made from the spoils of dredging by the Government to put through the Oakland estuary and San Leandro Creek channel to a depth of twenty-five feet both north and south of the island. The island offers an ideal location for a concrete shipyard, being surrounded by deep water, having a hardpan base formation and topped by a cold sand and gravel deposit.

The San Francisco Bay plant contemplated by the Department of Concrete Ships, U. S. Shipping Board, will represent an outlay of $10,000,000. It would mean the employment of 3000 or 4000 men on a permanent basis, and of more than that number during the period of construction of the yards. The construction of twenty ways, each with a capacity of a 7500-ton vessel, is included in the plans.

INVESTIGATED BY SPECIAL BOARD

The local situation has been investigated by a special board, consisting of Lieutenant H. D. Hynds, I. W. Hubbard, bureau of shipyard plants, and E. E. Parker, department engineer of the Department of Concrete Ships, U. S. Shipping Board. This special board has now made its formal recommendation, reporting on Government Island as first choice and Redwood City as second choice.

The city of Redwood made the government a proposition to sell or lease virtually the entire town on a permanent basis, with an agreement by the city to contribute $100,000 to housing betterments and to the improvement of roads and railroads connecting with the harbor frontage to be used.

The government will seek to have Oakland and Alameda grant a title in the form of a lease for a period of 25 years, with the privilege of renewal for a like period. But it is intimated that the matter must be pushed through expeditiously, as the need of quick action is of vital importance in the concrete shipbuilding program. Delays of months or even weeks will not be tolerated by the board in carrying out its plans, and the title matter must be handled

On the Wings of the British Whitaker Tells of New Sky Pilots Airmen Joyous in Risking Lives

By HERMAN WHITAKER,
Tribune Correspondent with the American Expeditionary Forces. Author of "The Planter," "The Settler," "Over the Border," Etc.
(Copyright, 1918, by Herman Whitaker)

We sat on the edge of the stone quay, the chief pilot and I, watching our legs above a miniature gale raised by the propellers of a seaplane that was being "tuned up." A dozen stout men were restraining the great bird of flight, and its attempts to break their grip strongly reminded me of a Christmas turkey in sight of the axe and block.

Two other hydroplanes and three small fighting machines were also poised like yellow dragon flies with attendant wasps along the quay. A machine gun in one was being aligned and its crackling fire at a sandbag target, rapid as the reverberation of torn canvas, split the hum and roar of motors and propellers.

Such sights and sounds are to be seen and heard, these days, at any of the naval aviation stations Uncle Sam has scattered with a free hand along the coast of France. But it was easy to tell this, for the war zone. A nest of British gunboats, the night patrol, cruised like sleepy ducklings under the opposite quay. Two squat monitors, bulldozers of the ocean, dived heavily farther down the channel, with their fifteen-inch guns however still trained on the German naval base fifteen miles away in readiness for anything Fritz might start.

Behind us the little port town lay in the sun, battered and mangled by three years of war. A single monster shell fired from twenty miles away had laid its greatest pride, a fine old church, in ruins. Blank windows stared from deserted houses like the eyes of the dead. All were torn by shell and shrapnel, for in one hour of one night the Boche dropped ninety bombs in a limited area, and this was but a single sample of the doing.

The shells from that monster gun twenty miles away are, however, more feared by the townspeople than the bombs. When one crosses the Belgian trenches a signal is flashed to a sentry on a lofty watch tower that dates back to the thirteenth century, but has not seen in six centuries of turbulence worse times than these. The sentry, in turn, sounds "Mourning Mary," a siren with a sob in its voice. From the other end of the town the "Old Man" answers in a deep, guttural voice. Whereafter the population has just seventy seconds to duck into the dugout, while the great shell is tearing through the air.

Under whirling planes
The watchman's job, by the way, is no sinecure. A Boche airman emptied his mitraillette into the last incumbent as he flashed past one night. Neither has the American naval station escaped scotfree. Four bombs had struck within a few hundred feet of where we sat. All of which, the battered town, patrolboats, monitors, and a grim background for the sea and land

First Airplane Mail Meets Mishap, Then Sails to Goal

NEW YORK, May 15.—Carrying mail from Philadelphia for New York, an army biplane piloted by Lieutenant Paul Culver, landed at Belmont Park, Long Island, this afternoon. The machine arrived at 3:37 and the mail cargo was on the train for New York three minutes later.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A broken propeller blade, forcing Lieutenant George L. Boyle to land on the state road near Waldorf, Maryland, twenty-five miles from here, interrupted the initial aero-post delivery of mail from Washington to Philadelphia and New York today.

When word of Lieutenant Boyle's mishap reached here, Lieutenant Paul Culver loaded the bags of mail into his machine and set out for New York. He left at 2:20 o'clock and said just before he left that he would reach Belmont Park in less than one hour—or ahead of schedule time.

The plane from Philadelphia, piloted by Lieutenant Edgerton, reached Washington at 2:50 p. m. It brought 5000 letters.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Lieutenant Webb landed at Buseton, near here, with the first aerial mail delivery from New York, exactly at 1 o'clock this afternoon, one hour and a half after leaving Belmont Park, Long Island. Second Lieutenant J. C. Edgerton relieved Lieutenant Webb at the wheel to pilot the machine on the 140-mile trip to Washington.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Aeroplane mail service to Philadelphia and Washington was inaugurated today when a government aeroplane left Belmont Park at 11:30 a. m., for Washington with some 4,000 letters. The plane, carrying 182 pieces of mail for Philadelphia and 460 pieces for Washington, weighing in all 144 pounds, was driven by Flight Lieutenant Torry H. Webb, aged 25, of Galesville, Cal. Webb, the son of Louis Webb, manager of the La Grange Hydraulic Company of Kennedy, Cal., is a graduate of Columbia University and joined the aviation corps at the declaration of war.

The big airplane was out of sight ten minutes after leaving the ground. The

PROMINENT CITIZENS OF BISBEE ARE WAR PROBE ARRESTED BY SENATE

Twenty-one Indictments Are Returned by Federal Grand Jury As Aftermath of Recent District Deportations

MEN ARE RELEASED UNDER $5000 BONDS

Arraignment Is Set for May 28 at Tucson, Ariz., On Charge of Conspiracy to Deprive U. S. Citizen of Lawful Rights

TUCSON, Ariz., May 15.—Twenty-one of the leading mining company officials, employees and business men of the Warren district were arrested at Bisbee this morning on indictments returned by the Federal grand jury which last week completed an investigation of the deportation last July of nearly twelve hundred alleged members of the I. W. W.

One of the Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Company at Bisbee was the first man arrested. The warrant was served by United States Marshal Dillon.

The men arrested met at the law offices of Ellingwood and Ross in Bisbee where their bonds were fixed at $5000 each by the United States commissioner. Federal Judge William H. Sawtelle in Tucson said an inspection of the indictment would not be allowed until official notification had been received that all the men indicted had been taken into custody.

Judge Sawtelle in his charge to the jury last week instructed that not only should the charge of conspiracy to deprive citizens of their rights be considered, but that the question of the obstruction of the draft in deporting a large number of registered men also should be considered.

After the arrest of Dowell warrants were served on the Southwest. Gerald Fitzgerald Sherman, superintendent of the mine department Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Company.

T. Watkins, miner, former city marshal and leader in the Bisbee Loyalty League.

Captain H. H. Stout, superintendent of the Phelps-Dodge smelter at Douglas.

LOXLEY LEAGUE MEMBERS ARRESTED

Robert Rasmussen, auditor for the Phelps-Dodge interest in the Southwest.

Miles Merrill, Copper Queen miner, one of the organizers of Warren District Loyalty League.

M. J. Cunningham, cashier of the Bank of Bisbee, director in the Bank of Douglas and Douglas Investment Company, secretary and director of Bisbee-Naco Water Company and former president Arizona Bankers' Association.

Dr. N. C. Blodde, head of the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company's medical staff.

Captain Joseph Park Hodgeson, consulting engineer Phelps-Dodge Corporation, member of district exemption board.

James Allison, city marshal of Bisbee, former Copper Queen miner.

Alvin W. Howe, deputy sheriff of Cochise county.

W. P. Sims, Bisbee dentist, former Arizona state senator.

Lemuel Shattuck, president and general manager of the Shattuck mine company, member of the Miners and Merchants Bank.

M. J. Brophy, general manager Phelps-Dodge stores in Bisbee.

Phil Lo Tovera, Bisbee cattleman and butcher.

Henry Snodgrass, Bisbee miner, former city marshal, charter member Warren District Loyalty League.

George E. Wilcox, chief watchman Calumet and Arizona Mining Company.

C. H. Hunt, member of Phelps-Dodge medical staff, county seat officer; J. L. Ganner, deputy sheriff; Vance Johnson, chairman of Board of Supervisors of Cochise county.

ALL BUT ONE OF WARRANTS SERVED

The arrest of the twenty-first man indicted is expected momentarily. He is widely known in mining and financial circles.

The warrants charge "conspiracy to deprive a citizen of the United States of his rights in violation of section 18, penal code."

In the absence of United States Commissioner J. D. Taylor, who now is in Chicago, the arrested men appeared before Justice of the Peace M. C. Hich, acting commissioner, who fixed their bonds and set their arraignment for May 28 in Tucson.

The federal grand jury investigation of the deportations began in

Discuss Possibility of Hun Murder Raid

LONDON, May 15.—Naval circles are discussing the possibility of a German landing in England, not as an invasion, but as a murder raid, according to an article published in today's Express.

In commenting upon the report, the Express says that the bottling up of Zebrugg and Ostend makes such an operation much more difficult.

Escaped Convicts Are Captured by Officer

LINCOLN, Neb., May 15.—Peter Green and Thomas Suppa, convicts, who made their escape from Nebraska state penitentiary here early Monday morning, were captured near Greenwood, Neb., by Deputy Sheriff George Rothe of Lancaster county. The men, who were both trusted, were sentenced from Douglas county on charges of rape.

Police Confiscate All Arms in Belfast

LONDON, May 15.—Word received here today from Belfast says that the police have confiscated all arms in the possession of gunsmiths and pawnbrokers.

Masses of Austrian Troops Collect in Alpine Passes For Descent on Latins

ROME, May 15.—Italian destroyers Sunday night sank an enemy transport in the Adriatic sea, near the entrance to the Durazzo, according to an official announcement by the admiralty.

The transport was conveyed by destroyers, but the Italian warships managed to return undamaged. The Austrian gunners failed to score a hit.

A squadron of Italian seaplanes and airplanes successfully bombed the Austrian submarine base of Cattaro, on the eastern shores of the Adriatic Monday, it was officially announced today.

Great masses of Austrians are concentrating along the Alpine lines and the Friuli plains, it was announced here today. Austrian aircraft are fighting desperately to prevent Italian airmen from discerning these troop movements.

MOSCOW, May 15.—Foreign Minister Tchitcherin today sent a wireless to Berlin declaring Russia proposed to disarm the Black Sea fleet in an effort to propitiate Germany.

TWO KINGS DEAL OUT FOUR KINGS TO FOUR NATIONS

LONDON, May 15.—German artillery began a bombardment this morning at points between the Somme and the Ancre and on the northern portion of the Flanders front, Field Marshal Haig reported.

"Southwest of Morlancourt and north of Kemmel the enemy's artillery fire increased this morning," the statement said.

"An attempted enemy raid was repulsed north of Le Mans yesterday. We carried out a successful raid northeast of Rebecq."

"There was hostile cannonading last night in the Somme and Ancre valleys, north of Bethune and in the Nieppe forest sector," Haig reported.

GERMAN ATTACKS AT MORLANCOURT FAILURE

The nearest assault undertaken by the Germans in several days—an attack on a front of nearly a mile, southeast of Morlancourt, between the Somme and the Ancre, yesterday morning—was a complete failure.

Field Marshal Haig's night report declared that after the enemy had succeeded in entering the lines at one point, the Australians counter-attacked and fully re-established their positions. The enemy's losses were heavy and more than fifty prisoners were taken. The British casualties were light.

French troops repulsed a German attack north of Kemmel on the Flanders front, Monday night.

The French war office last night reported intermittent bombardments in the Amiens region and east of Morlancourt.

French claimed a "successful local thrust" into the British lines on the Bray-Corbis road—evidently referring to the attack northwest of Morlancourt. Counter-attacks failed, the German war office said.

"On the whole, the general trend of the warfare against the submarines has progressed quite satisfactorily since January 1," Dr. MacNamara, financial secretary of the admiralty, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.

MacNamara said that 176 steamers were unsuccessfully attacked by German submarines between January 11 and April 30.

PARIS, May 15.—"Violent artillery fighting is in progress north of the Somme and between Morlancourt and Noyon," the French war office announced today.

"French troops took a wood south of Hallies (on the west bank of the Aisne, where the American troops are located). In spite of sharp fighting and German counter-attacks, the French kept their gains. They took seventy prisoners, including one officer."

"An enemy attempt south of Rollot was completely defeated."

Peace Proposals of Emperor Is Subject

LONDON, May 15.—The Manchester Guardian says that the peace offer made to France last year by Austria as revealed recently in the letters written by Emperor Charles to Prince Sixtus will form the subject of a debate of the highest importance in the House of Commons tomorrow.

Since the publication of the emperor's letters the question has been raised whether the Austrian offer should not have received greater attention and especially whether President Wilson should not have been consulted.

No British Mines, Is Admiralty Statement

LONDON, May 15.—The admiralty announces, with references to reports that vessels have been sunk by mines in the Cattegat and in the neighborhood of the Skaw, that no mines dangerous to merchant shipping have been laid by the British outside the British notified areas, adding: "Any mines in the above regions which are dangerous to merchant shipping must, therefore, with her usual disregard for neutral interests, have been laid by Germany."

River Rises; City Is in Grave Peril

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 15.—With the White river five feet above flood stage and at Newport, every available man in the city was working desperately on the levee at Jacksonport, four miles above the city. Breaking of the levee would flood Newport. All women and children have been sent from the city. The Jacksonport levee broke this afternoon, but the workers by a desperate effort stopped the break and tonight they were hopeful that it would hold.

Two Obstacles Now Face Count Minotto

CHICAGO, May 15.—Count James Minotto faces two obstacles in his fight against the Presidential warrant ordering his internment as a dangerous alien enemy, according to government officials here today.

He must prove his claim of Italian citizenship and also dispel the suspicions connected with his association with M. Cailhau, Count Luxembourg and known pro-German agents.

Find New Origin of Cancerous Growth

PARIS, May 15.—The theory that cancer is not of microbial origin but is due to the excessive elimination of certain substances normally contained in the blood, is supported by a report of the researchers of Professor Dubard just published by the Academy of Medicine.

Finding that the system of cancerous subjects was particularly poor in magnesium, Professor Dubard administered large doses of it to patients operated on for cancer, and reports encouraging results in a large number of cases.

SHIPYARD TO BE BUILT IN HARBOR

without a resort to unnecessary red tape, or quibbling over title.

GOVERNMENT CLAIMS TITLE TO ISLAND.

The government claims the present title to the island, under a deed from the Oakland Waterfront Company, which formally claimed ownership. The City of Oakland, by the way, claims ownership of the island, the city boundary line running midway across the basin and the island. The City of Alameda claims ownership of the entire island, its boundary line being located in the center line of the ship channel.

There is also the possibility that the State of California may have some title to the island.

Expedient action by all these political units, ceasing their rights to the government, would bring about quick action on the part of the Federal authorities in accepting the site and beginning work, it is believed.

At the suggestion of Lochiel M. King, an attorney in the San Francisco Harbor Commission and a resident of Alameda, the city council of Alameda last night decided to take up the question of obtaining the shipyard for Government Island with the United States Senators James D. Phelan and William Johnson and Congressmen J. A. Elston and Julius Kahn. The question of ownership of the island was raised by City Attorney A. F. St. Sure. It may be considered necessary to hold an election to make effective the deed of gift by Alameda to the government, and if necessary, this step will be urged.

NO TIME ALLOWED FOR CONTROVERSY.

Members of the board indicated that the government will not delay for any controversy between claimants, and it is probable that a conference will be held within a few days to bring about united action on the part of Oakland and Alameda.

The government engineers believe a bridge should be built from the mainland on the Oakland side of the estuary, probably at the foot of Denison street, to the island. This would make possible a spur track from the Southern Pacific and West Coast lines direct to the island, and would facilitate the delivery of an abundance of supplies. Gravel can be had nearby, and sand of the type used in the concrete ships can be barged from Monterey. The location is considered ideal, and it is thought that the housing problem in Oakland and Alameda will attend to itself or be settled by local enterprise.

Present plans of the government are to construct two concrete shipyards in California. One will go either to Oakland or Redwood City, and the other will be in the southern part of the state, between Los Angeles and San Diego, at a place to be finally selected shortly.

PRESIDENT STOPS PROBE OF WAR

Gutten Borglum, the sculptor, announcing that he was gathering documents to prove the falsity of charges made against him last week.

"I think Borglum labors under a misapprehension as to my functions in this matter," said Senator Brandegee. "Consequently, when I receive the documents I shall at once return them to Borglum, suggesting that he lay them before military affairs committee."

Senator Thompson of Kansas also gave out a letter from Secretary of War Baker declaring that he was not opposed to a more thorough investigation of the aircraft situation.

The letter follows: "I have received your letter of May 10, enclosing a copy of Senate resolution 241 introduced by Senator Chamberlain, providing for investigation by the military affairs committee of the Senate of the progress of aircraft production and into any other matters relating to the conduct of the war by or through the war department. I do not know how far additional powers are needed by the military affairs committee of the Senate and clearly the war department has no wish to reverse to the inquiry by the Senate military affairs committee. I point out, however, that every facility which the war department has is freely at the disposal of the Senate military affairs committee, whether any additional authority is conferred by resolution or not."

President Wilson today called upon former Justice Charles E. Hughes to act as a co-investigator in the probe of Gutten Borglum's charges against the aircraft production board. Hughes accepted the call.

Savings Bank Drops Name of "German"

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—Declaring that "it is not consistent with a full duty to the United States to maintain a corporate name associated with the name of a foreign nation with which the United States is at war," the German Savings and Loan Society, 226 California street, has petitioned the Superior Court for permission to change its name to the San Francisco Savings and Loan Society. The matter will be heard June 14.

ALLEGES NEGLECT.

Goldie M. Boyd alleges in a complaint for divorce against Ralph Boyd that, though he is employed at a good salary, he fails and neglects to provide for her with the necessities of life and that he is irritable and quarrelsome. The couple separated in March this year.

fire, with the additional handicap of building the station while training their men and establishing patrolling officers and men were scratching every nerve to take the "British pace."

"So far Fritz hasn't bothered us much," the chief pilot explained. "But we are not allowing him to lull us to sleep. He'll wait till he thinks we feel secure, then he'll come sweeping out from the land to try and get us."

But each of our seaplanes has machine guns mounted fore and aft, and three swift battle planes go up with each patrol, so we expect to give a good account of ourselves."

The glint in his eye said a good deal more, for he was a man who bore himself with the courteous courtesy of frankness and reserve, which is the hall mark of the American university. Only by accident had I discovered that he had come in our war zone.

From the Lafayette Escadrille and had been cited by both the French and Belgian governments for shooting down German planes. I had heard of this exploit. He had been lucky in getting in the first burst of fire!

The observer had collapsed. The pilot had crumpled and slid sideways to the great sea by the straps. The plane had dived, spinning, to the earth 10,000 feet below. That was about all I could get out of him.

But he was quite ready to talk about the others. It was from him I heard of how young Lt. another American flyer, had chased a Boche aviator back to his hangar behind the German lines and shot him as he climbed down from his plane.

"But that wasn't good flying," he commented upon the feat. "They got him over them he tried it. The thing I try to impress on our boys is to hold in the greatest possible damage on the enemy without cutting off their get-away. One live aviator is worth more to us than seven dead heroes. Fritz prefers them that way."

"The station had already given two names to the 'roll of honor,' for an ensign and blue jacket observer had fatally 'crashed' the preceding week. But that is the inevitable price of war."

For matter of that, each and all had had their narrow shaves. One pilot had saved himself by throwing the machine overboard, and the other had crashed so that it absorbed the shock. The other Lafayette man had driven a plane at a hundred miles an hour between two trees twelve feet apart. The pilot's wings and blades were in the trees, and the plane had crashed so that it absorbed the shock. The other Lafayette man had driven a plane at a hundred miles an hour between two trees twelve feet apart. The pilot's wings and blades were in the trees, and the plane had crashed so that it absorbed the shock.

He it was that told me of one plane, the finest he had ever seen, which he had seen in the perfect balance after its pilot had been shot dead for 120 miles. Like a faithful carrier pigeon, it flew out and descended to a perfect landing in a level field with the dead man's hands still gripping the wheel.

In fact, all flyers expect a percentage of their planes to be shot down. One of the little fighters had crashed into the sea on the other side of the British Channel and sank, leaving the pilot swimming for dear life. The plane he was flying had been shot down from 4000 feet and picked him up when almost exhausted, but the accident furnished one of those minor tragedies which birds and beasts contribute to the world.

The carrier pigeons that go with every patrol bring back the news of a breakdown had both been drowned. Nor was that all. Under its load of four men the hydroplane also broke down and had to be abandoned. One of the men flew straight home with the news, but the other fell in by the way with a boy and a "beebe" gun. After laying up in dock somewhere two days for repairs the faithful little bird flew home with its tail feathers shot off and a pellet wound in its back.

LIKE ANY DOG IN OUR TOWN
"But there's the most curious case of all."

It was a yellow dog of the variety one sees quite often being huddled and made much of by small urchins on American streets. His air was cheerful as he nosed around for bones or anything else eatable. The canine gods might provide, but suddenly he paused and shrank down in a queer, paralytic crouch.

"Shell shocked," the pilot said. "He's probably recovered in time. Meanwhile he has learned his lesson. He bolts like a scared rabbit for the rest of his life."

DRAFT MADE ON DEFERRED CLASS

Adjutant General J. J. Borrie has shipped from Class 1 of the draft into the deferred classification of farmers, in a quota summoned for service at Fort McJannet, beginning May 20. This is the first draft against deferred classification to be made, and is taken as indication of the serious need for men.

In telegraphic instructions sent out today Borrie advises that provision of the draft regulations regarding deferred enrollment of farmers be complied with. But he orders the board to draw upon only such farmers as can best be spared, if it should develop that there are not enough men in Class 1 to meet the call.

Some twenty-nine men will go forward from Divisions Nos. 1, 4, 5 and 6. Divisions 2 and 3 were not so instructed. The men will go in the following proportion: No. 1, 13; No. 4, 2; No. 5, 12; No. 6, 2. The boards are preparing the list of names today. If they fail to obtain men in Class 1 sufficient for the draft, they will follow Adjutant Borrie's instructions and fill out the quotas from the enrolled farmer on their list.

Wounded Abroad, Is Back in America

W. O. Copeland, well known along automobile row, has sufficiently recovered from the wounds he received in France to be brought to this country, according to word received today by Clinton G. Dodge. This word says that Copeland is in a hospital at Newport News, Virginia, and that he expects to be in Oakland shortly.

dugout with the men at 'Mournful Mary's' first yell."

We were standing then at the door of the first, and for the comfort of mothers and fathers, sisters and wives of the lads here in the war zone, I can certify that everything possible has been done to make them bombproof. First a corrugated iron arch is bedded in thick concrete ten feet underground. Next comes an air space to absorb shock. Then a second thick layer of concrete surfaced with granite blocks that have proved their worth in resisting high explosives. Finally layers of sand bags rise ten feet over all, topped with a glancing roof of thick boiler plate.

The doors open at each end and are heavily bulwarked with sand bags and lead around right-angle passages down below.

As we entered the pilot switched on electric lights that revealed the corrugated iron roof, ten feet high, as the upper arch of a big sewer. A double bench ran down the center. Single benches lined each side. In case the lighting system should be destroyed, ship lanterns with candles were ready to light hung from the center of the arch. Each of the three dugouts in the station can accommodate a couple of hundred men, and already they have been used.

For Uncle Sam is ever careful of his men. When the "Old Man" answers "Mary's" mournful yell, it is all hands for the dugout till the alarm be proved imaginary or real.

The sailors when the pilot had called to pose for a flashlight below, displayed more of curiosity than concern the probable effects of a bomb. "We don't know yet whether they'll stand up under direct hit," one lad said with a grin. "But we're liable to find out. That's all in the game. What we don't like is being yanked out of bed every night by false alarms."

In real American sailor fashion they were hauling all the fun that was to be had out of the situation. Fritz and his frightfulness drew from them only sardonic humor. The instant we released them, the players went back to their baseball while another group lounged on the sunny side of the dugout and played with three little tow-headed maids from the French barracks next door.

Their ages ranged from five to nine, and never have I seen three prettier or nicer children. Like the dog—and the cats, if our sailors are to be believed—they have learned to dive for the dugouts in their "nights" with the blankets in their arms at any old hour of the night. Just now they were frolicking like small kittens with our lads; but when their faces settled I felt that the players had marked them. "Fear dwelt not far behind the bright blue eyes. But I do not think that they consciously dwell on it, and between raids they have a good time. Not a box of candy or parcel of eatable comes to the station that they do not share. Apart from certain small stomach-aches, induced by indigestible large luggages, they are as content as other children with whom air raids loom as an indefinite terror in a far-off land."

"A German plane hovered over here taking photographs yesterday," the pilot told me with a good-bye to that evening. "We rather expect to see it tonight. Rumor has it we're going to see it."

I carried that interesting piece of information back to the top story of the hotel where I slept with only a few thin slats between me and the Boche. Being bombed is one thing; passed—quite another. No respectable person likes to be bombed, and I was sure that I had seen the Boche. Being bombed is one thing; passed—quite another. No respectable person likes to be bombed, and I was sure that I had seen the Boche.

There is no mistaking the sound—and they were directly above. I know that I must have pre-empted a scene from the cartoon of the Bainstater cartoon which represents a Tommy, hair on end, stretched out flat on "No Man's Land" under the glare of a star shell, at least that is how I felt. But they were not after me. Four hours later "Mary" warned us of their return—alas! the hands of their pilots red with the blood of women and children in Paris.

SUES FOR BOY'S HURT.

Suit for $2000 damages against Joseph Soito, alleging that the defendant carelessly ran his automobile into a wagon being driven by Theodore Ennes Jr., causing the latter's permanent injury, was filed today by Theodore Ennes, the boy's father, in the office of County Clerk George E. Cross. The father alleged that the boy was earning $70 a month, and that as a result of his injuries he will be unable to work for another year.

U. S. MAIL FOR FIRST TIME BY AIR

flight started at the place where the first international aviation meet opened eight years ago.

A crowd of invited guests gathered at Belmont Park to witness the historical event. Among those who spoke were Postmaster Patton of New York, Byron Newton, collector of the port, and Allan Hawley, president of the Aero Club of America.

The entire proceedings were in charge of the signal corps of the army. When the airplane left the ground, climbed for altitude and then turned southward, there was enthusiastic cheering and handshakings among the spectators.

Most of the crowd remained on the scene to welcome the mail which started here from Washington by airplane.

PRESIDENT WILSON SEES MAIL PLANE GO.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Under the eyes of President Wilson and a great outpouring of official Washington, the first mail aeroplane service was inaugurated here today. Amid the cheers of thousands, Lieutenant George Lenox Boyle mounted his machine and at 11:47 o'clock soared into the perfect sunshine and circling about a few times, straightened out on a bee-line for New York.

The start was scheduled for 11:30, but was held up by the machine being late in arriving at the field.

Eighty-six years has cut the mail delivery between New York and Washington from thirty-two to three hours. In 1832, by a special combination of stage coach, railroad and steamboat, the 250-mile route was traversed in the then-remarkable time of thirty-two hours. This feat was the subject of congratulatory speeches in the Senate.

Through establishment of relays of fresh horses every five miles, the pony express attained great speed, delivering the New York mail in Washington in fifteen hours. The horses would be run to speed for their five-mile stretch, then be replaced by fresh animals. Relay riders were replaced every twenty miles.

Saved Flour to Go On Coast's Vessels

Thousands of barrels of flour saved under food administration rules in this state will be carried to the ports of the allied nations for distribution in ships built in California, yards, according to an announcement today by Ralph P. Merritt.

As fast as the vessels are launched this flour, which also represents excess stock commandeered from bakers and other commercial users, will be loaded into the hold along with other food commodities and raw materials.

The work of assembling the flour is now actively under way in Oakland, where City Food Administrator Harmon Bell is in charge. Stockton, Sacramento, Merced, Fresno, Bakersfield, San Diego, San Bernardino and San Francisco.

BAYLIES ADDS NINTH PLANE TO HIS STRING

PARIS, May 15.—Aviator Frank Baylies of New Bedford, Mass., with the American forces in France, has just shot down his ninth enemy machine, according to official announcement here today.

Sergeant Baylies is a member of the "stork" escadrille, he brought down his eighth machine a few days ago. Before joining the "stork" escadrille Baylies served in the ambulance field service.

Marines Merry at Commerce Luncheon

Today was "Marines' Day" at the weekly luncheon of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce Manufacturers' Bureau, held in the Commercial Club grill, Hotel Oakland, when vaudeville performers enlisted in the United States Marine Corps presented numbers. One of the hits of the day was an "Interpretative Dancing" number, when members of the corps, wearing wigs and "camouflage" impersonated Gertrude Hoffman and her merry maids. "Rudy" Wiedoff, "Jazz" saxophonist, offered the act he used to present in vaudeville with the team of Fenchon and Marco. John A. Britton spoke briefly. Several impromptu "stunts" were staged by members of the bureau.

Would Provide New Entertainment Fund

That the budget for next year should include a sufficient sum to enable the city council to provide funds asked for entertainment purposes by all of the different organizations entitled to consideration for the holding of conventions here, was expressed by members of the council today in discussing a letter manifesting the disappointment of the United Commercial Travelers in being refused their request for $300. The committee in charge of the convention which will be held here May 16, 17 and 18, referred to other contributions that have been made by the council recently. Commissioner Edwards stated that the entertainment fund has been depleted for this year and while the council would willingly contribute the amount, it is now the question as to "every cent has been legally expended."

Flagman to Guard 14th and Franklin

Upon motion of Commissioner W. H. Edwards the city council today adopted a resolution requesting the Southern Pacific Company to station a flagman at Fourteenth and Franklin streets for the protection of pedestrians and traffic from the frequent passage of electric trains at that intersection. Commissioner Edwards stated that several accidents have occurred there and that others have been narrowly averted. It is in the congested district.

Fishermen Usually Carry an Antidote

While on a fishing trip in Sonoma county over the last week-end, V. P. Irvin, accountant for the Board of Education, and Dr. F. H. Locke, 1031 Fifty-third street, had the experience of awaking one morning and finding a rattlesnake coiled at the foot of their bed. The snake refused to be frightened away and he was left in charge of the situation while the fishermen went out for a catch. On their return the unwelcome visitor was gone.

HUN ATROCITIES IN RUSSIA TOLD

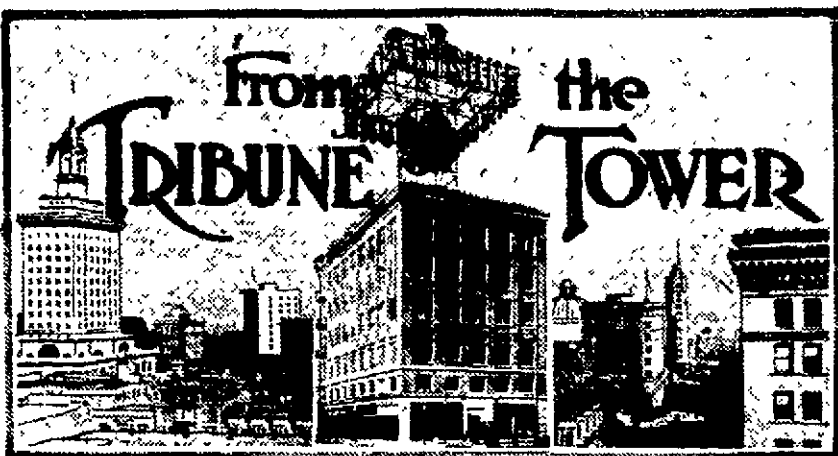

LONDON, May 15.—A Russian government wireless received here reveals the full horror of the German atrocities in the occupied regions of White Russia. It says that trustworthy witnesses who produced documentary evidence told of the violence of the programs and of the tortures, executions and savage methods of dealing with the working classes, as well as the plundering and burning of Russian villages by German detachments.

"In the Bobrinek district," the dispatch says, "entire villages have been set afire and plundered. In the village of Buda a Uhlans patrol extorted a contribution of several thousand rubles, and when the peasants had paid part of it and were unable to pay more the Uhlans surrounded the village and bombarded it."

"In other villages peasants, women and children, who endeavored to escape from fires were pursued by Uhlans and cut to pieces with swords or flogged with whips. In one village an old Jew was first flogged and then hanged in the presence of all the villagers. Most savage acts were perpetrated in Jewish villages."

"All persons suspected of belonging to the Bolsheviks and those in military uniforms were immediately shot."

A further group of facts concerns violence done by the White Guards, allies of the German authorities, to the Russian inhabitants of Poland, especially in Viborg. Even 12-year-old children have been shot. At Viborg one witness saw 200 corpses, mainly officers and mere schoolboys. According to other witnesses more than 600 persons were executed in two days."

She talked and talked and talked and talked and talked. And then she took a breath and talked and talked and talked. Harmon Bell, who administers food and law, and is a very busy man, was only listening with one ear. For the lady wanted nothing. Desired nothing, sought nothing—save an audience to hear her tell about her first-born. After she had been talking for some time, Bell felt it was incumbent upon him to say something.

"Can he walk?" he asked, his mind on deleterious butter, fermented pickles and passe cheese.

"Walk? Why he's been walking now for five months." This from the fond mother.

"Is that so?" said Bell, absent-mindedly. "How many miles did he make to the gallows?"

Can you blame the lady for slandering the door when she went out?

WELL, WHY DON'T HE DRIVE ROLLER OR LOW? There is a horse in the street

KNIGHTS OF GRIP BEGIN TO APPEAR

Traveling salesmen from many parts of the state arrived today for the state convention of the United Commercial Travelers, which is to open tomorrow at the Hotel Oakland. More than 300 delegates are expected at the session, which will last three days. Discussion of war time marketing conditions, war time railroad fares, and transportation problems will occupy the main part of the session.

Officers will be elected and delegates chosen for the national convention, which will be held in Columbus, Ohio.

A luncheon will be held Friday at the hotel for the traveling men, and Friday night will see a ball in their honor at the hotel.

Plans are being completed also for an automobile tour of Oakland and its environs, an outing to one of the Alameda beaches, and a theater party for the visiting women at the session.

Registration will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow in the lobby of the hotel. The main business sessions will be held on the mezzanine floor.

Hun Letters in Sympathetic Ink

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—The arrest of Albert and Erich Matthes, brothers, employed as clerks by local concerns, and a raid on their apartments, 380 Leavenworth street, by agents of the United States Department of Justice, has brought to light a clever system of secret code communication between this city and Germany, which is said to have worked up until last February, unceasingly. Matthes brothers belong to the German Reserve army.

The government secured four suit cases filled with letters and a copy of the code used. The characters were written in German shorthand with invisible ink, according to authorities, and became visible when the ink was heated, appearing as red-tinted word signs and abbreviations. The letters were exchanged between the brothers and their mother in Dresden, Germany, but are believed to have been written by Hun agents and transmitted through the woman as a medium.

The brothers were arrested last Tuesday and held in detention while government agents investigated. Presidential warrants for the two on the ground that they were dangerous enemy aliens were requested, and arrived yesterday. Upon receipt of the warrants the men were turned over to the military authorities for internment during the period of the war.

Factory Greatly to Enlarge Its Plant

Planning enlargements aggregating in cost $100,000, V. K. Sturges, head of the Pacific Tire Company, today completed negotiations to take over several acres adjoining the plant on the boulevard. Sturges is installing new machinery to handle important war contracts.

The firm started five years ago manufacturing tire treads of leather. Honorary memberships in the National Education Association, voted from time to time by the past years to famous German educators, have been revoked, according to notices received today by local educators from Secretary J. W. Crabtree, this action being taken by the national executive board in response to demand from members of the association and the Council of National Defense.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

"There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely! To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. It is a sure, safe, and effective drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

RESTAURANT TO CLOSE TWO DAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—The States Restaurant, formerly known as the Hof Brau, at Fourth and Market streets, was ordered closed for two days beginning Sunday midnight by the Federal Food Administration for California. The management was recently found guilty by a restaurant and cafe men's jury of violations of that section of the food administration rules prohibiting the service of bread or wheat products without the special order of the patron.

This is the severest penalty yet given by the food administration west of the Mississippi river for similar infractions of the wheat saving rules. As an additional penalty the restaurant was notified through L. H. Hirsch, one of the proprietors, to erect a sign announcing that the States had been closed for infraction of the rules. Hirsch was discharged from the restaurant men's jury panel following his conviction. Three other restaurants which were found guilty at the time were given suspended sentences.

Mayflower Tree Has No English Branches

LONDON, May 15.—If there are in England any descendants of the little band of Pilgrims who sailed in the Mayflower 238 years ago, they are difficult to discover. An American woman living in London was trying to find them, and with that object she inserted advertisements asking any "Mayflowers" now in London to meet her at a hotel at a certain hour.

The appointed hour came, and the American woman waited. A moving picture photographer, several newspaper photographers and a dozen reporters arrived and were mistakenly and enthusiastically greeted as Mayflowers. There was an air of eager expectancy and suppressed excitement. Everybody waited for forty-five minutes, but not a single "Mayflower" appeared. There were signs of disappointment.

"But there must be some Mayflowers in London," said the American woman to the reporters. "I can't be the only one." She looked again at the door, but there was no sound of footsteps, and the meeting adjourned.

MAURICE IS HEARD IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

LONDON, May 15.—The Daily Chronicle has favored the Associated Press with Major-General Maurice's first article, which will appear tomorrow under the caption: "A Personal Explanation."

General Maurice deals with two points in the premier's comments on his conduct. Concerning the Versailles meeting to discuss the taking over of the French navy, General Maurice says:

"I accompanied the British representatives to Versailles and was present at the first meeting of this session of the supreme war council. During the meetings after the first I was in the corridor outside the council chamber and in the intervals between the meetings was engaged on work in connection with the question under examination. I hold, therefore, that my statement that was at Versailles at the time was justified."

EXPLAINS OMISSION.
Concerning the premier's question why I did not criticize ministerial statements before I left office, General Maurice says, "I was not in the House of Commons when the premier made his speech on April 9. That was the day the enemy attack in Flanders began. Between then and April 20, when I handed over my work to my successor, I was very much occupied with my duties and part of the time I was in France. I left the war office on April 20 on leave and then for the first time read a full report of the speech."

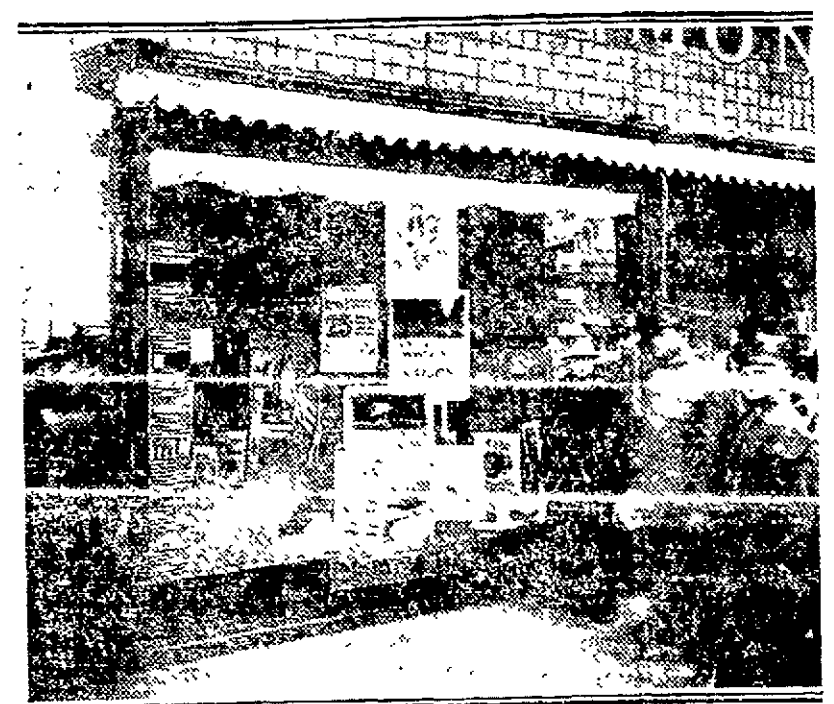

"It was while I was on leave that I heard of Mr. Bonar Law's answers to questions in the House of Commons on April 22. I returned to London on April 22 and read the report of parliamentary proceedings. It was not until then that I formed a definite opinion that Bonar Law's reply and the premier's statement which I questioned, taken together, put upon soldiers responsibility which, in my judgment, should be borne by ministers, and it appeared to me a matter of urgency to correct that impression. "I wrote the following day, April 30, after I had left office, to my late chief, the chief of the imperial staff, pointing out that statements made by the premier and Bonar Law were incorrect. I had made up my mind before then that action on my part was necessary."

"I waited for a reply until May 6," General Maurice continues, "before sending my letter to the press, and that I conceived to be as long as I could wait, because I had been warned to expect orders to go to France on or after May 10, and I did not wish to make such changes on the eve of leaving the country. I acted entirely alone and the responsibility for what I did is mine alone. Nothing was further from my mind than to serve any partisan or political purpose."

Huge Heap of Shining Quarters Draws Crowd

This picture shows a crowd watching 20,000 quarter-dollar pieces cascade from a barrel in the window of Marymont & Upright.

Department Store Has Unique Window Display for Thrift Stamp Sale

The unusual sight of a window heaped with shining two-bit pieces has caused a crowd all this week at the corner of Thirteenth and Washington streets. Marymont & Upright have a striking display in behalf of Thrift and War Savings Stamps, the feature of which is $500 in quarters.

The stream of 20,000 pieces of money falls from an overturned barrel, above which streams an American flag. Flags flutter on all sides and a large flag forms the background of the display. Scattered about on top of the money are blocks of Thrift Stamps, Thrift cards and W. S. S. posters made by Oakland school children. A large sign reads:

"All money is easy for everyone to buy Thrift Stamps. 25c back on every $5.00 spent here this week. We expect to give away 20,000 quarters."

This plan of Marymont & Upright has already greatly stimulated the sale of Thrift Stamps in this department store. Almost every one is anxious to invest their saving in the government stamps. For tomorrow, Thrift Day, Marymont & Upright will give back 25c on every $2.50 spent in the store.

MILLIONS LOST IN SHIPYARD BLAZE

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 15.—Coughlin's shipyard, the largest shipbuilding industry in British Columbia, was devastated by fire starting at 2:20 this morning. The loss will run from a million and a half to two million dollars. One fireman, Duncan Cameron, was crushed by a falling wall and instantly killed.

Two 8000-ton steel steamers were on the ways. The War Charger, nearly completed, was not seriously damaged. The War Chariot, on which work worth three-quarters of a million had been done, will be almost a total loss. The blaze burned away the foundations and she fell into the mud flats, where blazing cranes and gantries and other heavy timbers fell on top of her and completed the ruin. Boiler shops which contained machinery for the steamer Alaska and all of the outfitings of the moulding department of the place were destroyed.

The fire was under control at 5 o'clock. The blaze started in the boiler room and was almost out when an acetylene tank exploded and the flames then spread rapidly.

WANT FILIPINO BOYS.
Two hundred Filipino boys are wanted by the navy training stations on the Pacific coast for mess attendants and cooks for officers. They will be trained on the west coast and will probably be sent to the Atlantic fleet later. Applications should be made to the navy recruiting station, 459 Twelfth street, Oakland, or 417 Market street, San Francisco.

RECEIVES RULING ON MORATORIUM

The Department of Justice at Washington and the Judge Advocate General of the Army have interpreted the recently enacted Moratorium, or Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Rights Defense Act, as intending that all civil rights of all persons in the service will be protected against proceedings in any court in which such rights are sought to be adversely affected.

The ruling is that the law applies to proceedings in probate courts, and any soldier or sailor or other persons in the settlement of estates in which they are interested unless they are represented in the proceedings by authorized attorneys. The act is interpreted as applying to all actions in rem, including suits to quiet title.

This interpretation of the law was given in a letter received today by Judge Joseph S. Koford. The letter is from the attorney general at Washington. It indicates that the question was raised by Judge Koford ahead of any other judge or court in the country.

LEAGUE WILL MEET.
West Oakland Division No. 3 of the War Service League, will hold a meeting tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Cole School, Tenth and Poplar streets. There will be important matters taken up that will be of interest to the public. Judge J. J. Dunne and Philip Carey will address the meeting. The public is invited.

SLAV AMAZON S ASKED AS GUEST

Maria Botchkareva, the founder of the Legion of Death in Russia, who has been named the Jeannette of the West, is spending a brief while in San Francisco en route to Washington, D. C., has been invited by the board of directors of the Business and Professional Woman's Club to be their guest for the week.

When the invitation went to the distinguished woman the privilege of naming her own time of coming to the city was offered.

Miss Bessie J. Wood, president of the hostess club is awaiting a reply, which will be given in a few days. The hastily arranged affair will be perfected. The Chamber of Commerce will be asked to participate in the entertainment, when the time of her coming to Oakland is definitely decided.

Miss Louise Hale, who arrived on the same steamer with the Russian war leader, has also been invited.

GIRL EXPLAINS RUSS STRUGGLE

Miss Bell Breck, who has been spending a week with her cousin, Miss Emma Breck, in Summit street, is one of the American women who have played a large part in the drama of the nations. After two years of active service in Russia under the Young Men's Christian Association, she is accompanying the Russian war leader, Miss Emma Breck, to the United States.

Miss Breck was present when that historical event, the freeing of the Russian and Siberian prisoners, was staged and saw the exiles from Siberia return to freedom. She was in Petrograd when the revolution instituted by Bolsheviks had its beginning and saw it move into a terrible conflict. When the orders were issued that Americans for the protection of international interests should leave Russia, Miss Breck was obliged to obey, returning to the United States.

Although disclaiming that she is a public speaker, Miss Breck was yesterday a guest of the Oakland club women, some of the remarkable experiences through which she had gone.

Miss Breck is spending the coming week in San Francisco with friends. She is a cousin of Samuel Breck and Miss Emma Breck. Besides speaking before Eboli, Miss Breck addressed the student body of the University High School.

TRAIN CREW NOT BLAMED FOR SMASH

A board of inquiry today absolved the crew of Southern Pacific train No. 1234 from all responsibility for the accident which occurred at California and Delaware streets, Berkeley, on the evening of March 7, when William Catterman, 40, St. Mark's hotel, was killed and Mrs. G. Beane, 40, 1317 Delaware street, was slightly injured. Catterman and Mrs. Beane were in an automobile which drove on the tracks in front of an incoming train. According to the findings of the board the driver failed to have the automobile under control.

The board consisted of Superintendent J. C. McPherson, Assistant Superintendent W. H. Norton, Master Engineer J. H. Lockett, E. H. Miller, division engineer; T. M. Tupper, a contractor and Garrett Owen, a jeweler.

4422 RIVETS IN 9 HOURS, RECORD
LONDON, May 15.—The Clyde has beaten the London riveting record, according to the Daily Mail. Thomas Devine, a former soldier, at the Dalnair yards of William Beardmore and Company has driven 4422 rivets in a side of a ship in nine hours. The record was made last week by Robert Farrant, was 4275 rivets in a tank in the same time.

Devine's record was made after Colonel W. V. Faber, member of Parliament for the West Division of Hampshire, had offered in a letter to the Daily Mail twenty-five pounds sterling to the first riveter in the United Kingdom to beat Farrant's figures.

Tomatoes Are Scarce and Prices Are High

The beautiful red tomato is akin to the diamond these days—very valuable. For, under a sharp scarcity in both imported Mexican and early California tomatoes, prices for both varieties rose quickly on the commission market today. Tomatoes sold at wholesale as high as $4 for a small lug box. Spoilage in the Mexican shipments was considerable. Delay in trains and shortage in cars is held responsible for the condition of the shipments and scarcity of the fruit.

Pretty Appointments for Church Wedding

At a pretty church wedding Saturday, May 11, Miss Edith R. Miller will become the bride of Incoff Peterson. She will be attended by Miss Naomi Fickes as bridesmaid while Adolph Peterson, a brother of the groom, will act as best man. The wedding procession will be led by three tiny flower girls. Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother. After a honeymoon in Southern California the young couple will reside in Oakland where the groom is well known in shipping circles.

May Construct Huge Plant for Ordnance

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Construction of a mammoth ordnance plant, in many ways similar to the big United States Steel Corporation plant at Neville Island, is contemplated by the government and the Bethlehem Steel Company.

BAY PIONEER IS DEAD IN OAKLAND

James J. Knowlton, a 48er, proprietor of the San Francisco Evening Journal at the time of the civil war, and prominent in the political, public and industrial life of the bay cities in the early years, is dead. He lived for several years at the King's Daughters' Home, and died there yesterday morning at the age of 83 years.

Knowlton was a native of Portsmouth, N. H., and came to California as a surveyor at the time of the gold rush. Later he became a newspaper owner and was widely known for his development work in the bay cities. Giving up his newspaper interests he became interested in chemistry and started the Pacific Ink Manufacturing Company in San Francisco.

Knowlton survived by a daughter, Miss Emma L. Knowlton, of 557 Sacramento street, and a grandson, William H. Jordan of Los Angeles. He was the father of the late Mrs. M. F. Jordan.

A funeral will be held tomorrow morning from a local undertaking parlor.

Widow Is Ordered To Pay Coachman

The Appellate Court has directed Mrs. Alice Cutting, widow of Francis Cutting of Oakland, who upon his death left an estate aggregating $600,000, to comply with the request of the deceased and pay to Henry Heitman, the family coachman, $1000.

The facts found by the court are that three days prior to his death Cutting, in the presence of his wife, told his son that he was sorry for not having mentioned Heitman in the will, and directed the son to draw $1000 from the bank and hand it to Mrs. Cutting to give to Heitman. This the son did, it was found, but Mrs. Cutting did not pay the money over to the coachman. Suit was brought, judgment had, and Mrs. Cutting appealed.

Oakland Moose to Journey to Alameda

A big joint initiation will be held tonight by Oakland and Alameda lodges of Moose at the club rooms of the Alameda organization. Plans have been made for this joint meeting for some time and it promises to be among the largest affairs held in Alameda for a long time. Secretary W. J. Hamilton of Oakland lodge announces that the ceremonies will be put on by the Oakland officers and that among those to be inducted will be a large number of Oakland candidates who have been unable to come to the Friday night meetings, when the Oakland initiations are held. Both Oakland and Alameda lodges have been active in war work and studies of this important service will also be discussed tonight.

U. S. Seeks Tariff and Rate Clerks

The Interstate Commerce Commission and the depot quartermaster's office are in need of experienced rate clerks for the passenger and freight business and also of clerical clerks. This is the word that comes to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce with a request that that organization make an effort to obtain such clerks.

The pay ranges from $1200 to $1500 a year, with the positions open to both men and women. Full information in regard to these positions is on file at the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

Screen Comedian to Soon Go Into Training

Charlie Chaplin's reappearance in "A Dog's Life," beginning today at the T. & D. Theater, may be the last time the public will be afforded the opportunity of seeing the famous comedian. Chaplin has been drafted and is holding himself in readiness to go into training at an American camp, preparatory to the trip "over there," where the grim business of war will take the place of the antics that have won Chaplin acclaim throughout the world as the greatest comedian of the age.

Father Shoots Girl, Then Self

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—Annie McCollum, 16 years old, was shot through the head and killed instantly today as she lay in bed in her home in Glendale, and her father, J. A. McCollum, was found dead with a revolver beside him after two shots attracted a nurse caring for Mrs. McCollum.

Despondency over his wife's long illness was said by the police to have shown itself strongly recently in McCollum's behavior.

PEOPLE GIVE OUR BELLIONS IN WAR TAXES

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Revised estimates of revenue receipts in the current fiscal year ending next June 30 place at $4,095,699,000 the sum which the American people will contribute directly to the government, mainly in taxes, for prosecution of the war. These estimates, reported today to the Senate by Secretary McAdoo in compliance with a request for specific information regarding the future revenue needs, show that about one-third of the expense of the war this year has been met by the sale of bonds and two-thirds by Liberty bonds.

The report disclosed that about $2,775,155,000 will be collected on the basis of income and excess profits tax returns on file May 4, about $348,000,000 more than the yield estimated when the war revenue law was enacted last October, but less than the $3,000,000,000 recently estimated. The total now expected from internal revenue, which includes receipts from income and excess profits tax returns, is $3,643,899,000; from customs, $180,000,000; from miscellaneous sources, including $100,000,000 earnings of increased first-class postage, $270,000,000, and from sale of public land $1,800,000,000. Accurate estimates of revenue receipts last fall were about $3,400,000,000.

These figures, although not based on actual collections, represent quite accurately what may be looked for from ordinary revenue sources this year, the treasury believes, because the largest item, income and excess profits taxes, have been calculated by revenue collectors from returns in their hands eleven days ago, showing such cases as would be paid in June. Several thousand returns still are outstanding by special permission of the internal revenue commissioner, but these are not expected to add enough to change the totals greatly.

The report will be examined carefully by members of Congress in connection with the pending question whether new revenue legislation should be taken up at this session, as urged by Secretary McAdoo. The fact that its figures are fairly definite is expected to have some influence with some members who have argued that results of existing revenue legislation should be determined before new bills were introduced. The report today did not segregate receipts from incomes and excess profits taxes, however. Early in the year Secretary McAdoo had estimated income taxes at $1,201,000,000 and excess profits taxes at $1,226,000,000.

Clerk Is Killed in Quarrel; Suspect Held

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—William McKendrick, secretary to George E. Burnell, capitalist, was stabbed and killed to death in the Burnell home, and Charles Anderson, his alleged assailant, was arrested.

Anderson, according to the police, said he had paid Burnell $1,000 for instructions in philosophy, and had given him $8,000. He said he had been trying to dissuade him from his philosophy, but was dissatisfied with their dealings. Burnell, reputed wealthy, is known as a student of certain philosophies, upon which he has lectured.

FORELADY FOR BIG S. F. CONCERN TELLS OF HER TROUBLES

Had Suffered Over Twelve Years—Finds Relief at Last by Taking Tanlac

Hundreds of San Francisco people, both men and women, are now taking Tanlac with the most gratifying results, and numbers have testified in the past few days to the benefits they have derived from it. Among the number is Mrs. Frank G. Kenne, who resides at 325 Church street. Mrs. Kenne holds the responsible position of forelady in the perfume department of Paul Huet & Co., perfumers and extractors, and that her services are appreciated by this well-known firm is attested by the fact that she has been in their employ for the past fifteen years. In describing her case and failure to heretofore find relief, Mrs. Kenne said:

"I had suffered from indigestion so long that I had become a regular nervous dyspeptic. Twelve or thirteen years ago my stomach began giving me trouble. Soon after meals gas would form and bring on a heavy, distressed feeling that would last for hours. I was constipated all the time and was constantly taking medicine for this as well as stomach trouble. I was often nauseated and would get up in the mornings with a bad taste in my mouth and felt dizzy, weak and tired. I had no energy and just had to force myself to move around.

"It certainly was lucky for me that I got Tanlac, for it has done for me what no other medicine could. I am now on my second bottle. I'm feeling like a different person already. After taking Tanlac a few days my appetite came back to me, the gas stopped forming on my stomach and I don't have any trouble now from anything I eat. My nerves are in fine shape and I don't have those tired, sluggish feelings any more. Tanlac has had a different effect on me from any other medicine I have ever tried, and I am just so glad to see how perfectly my health is being restored that I feel like telling everybody about it. My husband is getting great relief by taking Tanlac, too, and we both feel very thankful to it. I am more than glad to give this statement, which I hope will be the cause of others finding relief."

The food poison that does them absolutely no good unless they digest it. When you suffer from indigestion or other forms of stomach trouble, the food does you harm instead of good, because food which is not digested stays in the stomach and ferments, causing pain, swelling, gas on the stomach, loss of breath, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness and many other disagreeable symptoms. If this condition is permitted to run on for an indefinite period, the entire system becomes saturated with poisons and various complications are apt to result.

Mrs. Kenne's trouble was relieved by Tanlac simply because it toned up her vital organs and enabled her to digest her food properly. In fact, there is no portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. Next, it enables the worn-out stomach to thoroughly digest its food, permitting the assimilation of the nourishing products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle, thus bringing back the normal state of health through its effect on the appetite and nutrition of the body.

Tanlac, mentioned in the above testimony, bears the name G. F. Willis and the Cooper Medicine Co. and is sold in San Francisco and Oakland in The Owl Drug Co. stores only.

The Purposes of War-Savings Societies

The letters W. S. S. stand for War-Savings Stamps and for War-Savings Societies.

The purposes of the War-Savings Societies are:

1. To awaken a realization among the men, women and children of America that in their hands lies the key to the most successful prosecution of the war; that they can render the most far-reaching patriotic services through refraining from the purchase of unnecessary articles, confining themselves to the use of such things as are necessary for health and efficiency, thus releasing labor and materials for the support of our armies in the field; that there is not enough labor in the United States to produce the great variety of articles needed to support our soldiers and at the same time provide all the comfort and luxuries we enjoyed before the war.

2. To lay the foundation for thrift and economy throughout the United States and to bring home to the people the fact that intelligent and consistent saving is not a dry problem in economics, but is the most vital step toward personal success.

3. To obtain for the Government a large amount of money through the sale of Thrift Stamps and War-Savings Stamps—little Government bonds—the safest and best investment in the world, and at the same time provide a method by which the small investor may put his savings at the immediate service of his country. Members of War-Savings Societies pledge themselves to support the Government by refraining from unnecessary expenditures, by systematic saving, and by obtaining new members.

How to Organize War-Savings Societies

Ten or more persons may organize a War-Savings Society. They may meet in the factory, school, church, clubhouse, the home of one of the members, or at any other convenient place. School children may hold meetings in their classrooms at such times as will not interfere with their work.

FALL KILLS 2 U. S. AIRMEN IN FRANCE

By FRANK J. TAYLOR,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY
IN LORRAINE, May 15.—I saw two American aviators die in a quick and terrible tragedy northwest of Toul Tuesday afternoon. Their plane became uncontrollable and crashed to earth. The cause is not known.
First I noticed three American observation planes skimming under some low clouds over our lines at an altitude of probably 2000 feet. Suddenly the three darted into a cloud.
Then I observed one of the machines plunging straight downward, with the motor going at full power.
I expected it momentarily to flatten out, but the plane kept plunging, the motor roaring louder and louder.
The plane struck with an echoing crash in a field about 200 yards from a village, just behind the American lines.
An ambulance patrol went out and reported the nose of the plane had turned a huge hole in the earth, the engine completely crushing the pilot and observer. The plane was battered to bits.
Quietly and bravely a detail party went out in full view of the German artillery to perform the solemn duty of gathering up the bodies for burial.
The other two American planes
now flew from the clouds, circled above like hawks, while their occupants peered over side to find out the fate of their patrol mates. For several minutes they maneuvered thus, then returned to their city of watching the German lines—as though nothing had happened other than the every-day irony of war.

Country Calls Out 51,600 Men California Is to Contribute 1500

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Twenty-four states and the District of Columbia were called upon last night by Provost Marshal General Crowder to furnish for the National Army 51,600 more men qualified for general military service.

Movement of drafted men to the camps under this call is to extend over two periods from May 20 to 24,
and from May 25 to June 2.

These dates were fixed because during the five days beginning May 25 approximately 233,000 men called up recently will be moving to the camps.

Last night's call marks further development of the government's plans for hastening men to France and replacing them as rapidly as they vacate the training centers.
In all, 234,600 draftees will be journeying from their homes to military camps between May 20 and June 2.

TOTAL NEARLY 366,000.
Including numerous calls for technical and specifically qualified men, the total number summoned during May is something like 366,000, nearly half of the 800,000 accepted to be called this year.

While officials did not explain why only half the states were asked to furnish men at this time, it is understood that the section to be drawn upon were arrived at through consideration of the proportion of quotas already called in some cases and of the location of vacated training
camps.

The camps selected for the registrants affected by tonight's order are not all national army camps, showing that men are to be sent wherever room may be found for them.

In several instances men from certain states are ordered to go to camps to which men from their states are not usually assigned.

QUOTAS IN WEST.
The Pacific Coast States called upon and camps assigned them are as follows:

For the movement from May 20
to 24:
California—1500 to Fort McDowell, Cal.

Washington—250 to Vancouver Barracks, Wash.

For the movement from May 25 to June 2:
New Mexico—500 to Fort Sam
Houston, Texas.

Flour Substitutes'
School at Breuner's

Mrs. Edna J. Evans, conducting a free cooking school this week and next at Breuner's, is winning the praise of her audience by showing them how to eliminate wheat flour from their cooking, as the food administration has requested that as many homes as possible pledge themselves to use no wheat until after the next harvest, patriotic housewives by the score are seeking to learn how to use the substitute flours successfully.
One guest that is as flaky as any ever made with white flour was demonstrated today when Mrs. Evans made a sweet potato pie in the presence of a large class. Date muffins, as wholesome, as delicious and a chocolate cocoa cake were also pronounced perfect and, if anything, a little better because of the combinations of flour used in their construction.

Tomorrow's menu are of especial interest, as they cover not only the baking with barley, rye and corn flour, but the use of the broiler, Mrs. Evans says.

"So many women have beautiful gas stoves, but never use the broilers because they don't know how. What we call 'frying' is really 'sauteing,' and makes a high class, indigestible steak, chops, ham and bacon should always be broiled, and after I have shown the usefulness of the broiler no woman will ever fail to use that portion of her gas range."

The planked steak which Mrs. Evans will prepare in the broiler tomorrow afternoon is one of her specialties. She planks the vegetables with it, and shows her students how for an expenditure of $1.50, they can serve a planked steak for five people with all the savariness and the full of the 10 planked steak served in the high-class restaurants.

The menu for tomorrow are as follows: 10:30 a. m., baking powder biscuits, made from half barley flour and half rye flour; cornbread, made from corn meal and corn flour; 2:30 p. m., cabbage au gratin; planked steak; baked bean, oriental style.

Kahn Bros.' Employees Party Nets $667.67

Kahn Bros.' employees' theater party at the Orpheum netted $667.67, which has been turned over to the Oakland Red Cross Chapter. Twice as many seats could have been sold, it is said, if there had been accommodation. David S. Levy, director of Kahn Bros.' advertising campaign, was chairman of the committee and with his willing and efficient workers made the affair a big success. Miss M. Hennings was in charge of six of Kahn's prettiest belles, who passed through the audience seating. Misses I. Tenby, Miss Donahue, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. York, Miss Elsie Merik and Miss Kathryn Massoni.
Miss Mary Hamman was in charge of the following bevy of pretty girls, dressed as Red Cross misses, who sold candy and rum: Miss Herminie Cramer, Miss Mary Kelly, Miss Elsie Bunsell, Miss Gertrude
Barry, Miss Myrtle Brown, Miss Violet
Engvall and Miss Lora Hood.
The prize of a $10 merchandise order, offered by Irving H. Kahn to the person selling the most tickets, was awarded to Miss Mary Ward of the office. The second prize of $5 cash, offered by Milton Mazor of the coat and suit department, was awarded to Mrs. M. Morrison, also of that department. The third prize, $5, given by the Bankers' Association, was awarded to Mrs. M. Robinson, of the second floor.

Kahn Brothers' Mutual Benefit Association, has expressed its gratitude to every one who helped make the event such a success, particularly to the Orpheum management.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke to Lecture in Oakland

"Our Country's Conscience in This War" is the subject of the lecture to be delivered by Dr. Henry Van Dyke on Tuesday evening, May 21st, at the Auditorium Opera House. Professor Henry Morse Stephens of the University of California will preside. Arrangements for this event are under the direction of Paul Elder.
Dr. Van Dyke was United States minister to Holland during the first three years of the war and in intimate relation with the events during this momentous period. He is at present on active service with the navy department, and the occasion of his presence here is his visit to the naval training stations at Goat Island and Mare Island for a brief period. He is devoting himself without reserve to his duties in this work, and Oakland is particularly fortunate in the fact that he has been induced to make a public appearance here. He will give the proceeds realized from the lecture to the Naval Relief Society.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1918.

A DEFENSE OF CONGRESS.

Members of Congress have resented the receipt of thousands of printed post-cards bearing the appeal, "For God's Sake, Hurry Up," which was the last public utterance of the distinguished American jurist and diplomat, the late Joseph H. Choate. Congressman W. W. Lufkin of Massachusetts has prepared an answer to the avalanche of post-cards and this answer has been inserted in the Congressional Record. Among other things, Lufkin says:

"No intelligent American will deny that there is need for applying Mr. Choate's words, 'For God's Sake, Hurry Up,' in many directions. On the other hand, no intelligent American who has been a student of affairs in Washington during the past year, will venture to say that the United States Congress has not been keenly alive at all times to the demands of the administration, both in appropriating money to run the war, and in providing legislation to facilitate and make more clean-cut and effective its management. In fact, the main criticism of people here is not that Congress has been a laggard, or has been unwilling; but that it has been far too subservient in delegating its legislative authority to the will of the executive branch of the government, and has appropriated almost unheard-of sums of money for the conduct of the war when called upon by the President, with little or no debate. Personally, I believe that such criticism is just as unfair and uncalled for as is the criticism of the men who hold that Congress needs to hurry up. To my mind, the President, as the commander-in-chief, is the one great leader in this crisis, and there is but one thing for an American Congress to do and that is to back up with all the speed and alacrity possible the recommendations of this American commander-in-chief, for the prosecution of this American war."

In all fairness, it must be admitted that the most flagrant cases for complaint have not been directly attributable to Congress. The year's delay in the shipbuilding program was due to an internal quarrel among the members of the shipping board. Congress furnished ample funds for the aircraft program, the failure to date in the carrying out of which is now causing such widespread criticism. Since the breaking out of the war, the President has found little hesitation on the part of Congress to carry out all his recommendations.

Less blame can be attached to the present Congress than to past bodies which displayed a lack of foresight in failing to prepare the country for a situation that was some day inevitable. A minority in both great parties strongly urged ample preparedness, but a majority was indifferent. While successful efforts are now being put forth to repair the damage, the country is paying the price.

FOR LOYAL STUDENTS ONLY.

Henceforth and during the period of the war the University of California will require of all graduates seeking a diploma, who are citizens of this or any of the Allied belligerent countries, a pledge of loyalty to the United States and of unqualified devotion to the right and the victory of the cause for which the country and its allies are fighting. In the case of students who are citizens of a neutral or enemy country a solemn pledge of sympathy with the cause of the United States will be required.

This is a wise and timely policy the State University has adopted. It will prove of high service to the country and will not result in a noteworthy reduction of the number of graduates. At the same time it will give to a certificate of graduation from the university a more authentic and trustworthy character. There is a certain amount of faith placed in the proposition that a graduate of a university is, by virtue of his education and training, qualified to be a good and loyal citizen. By requiring the student to go formally on record as to fidelity to this country the university has made all provision possible for insuring against its certificate of approval becoming a credential for an enemy sympathizer.

The university authorities have taken another commendable course in waiving the foreign language requirement for graduates of accredited high schools who desire to enter the university. This is the only excuse which public school officials have advanced for continuing the study of German in the high schools. This course may now be dropped without hurting the academic standing of any student.

THE PASSING OF BENNETT.

The death of James Gordon Bennett completes a journalistic span that has never been equaled. Two generations for seventy-five years continued in more intimate control of a great newspaper founded in the family than is often or ever exercised by proprietors. To more fully appreciate what this means it is necessary to understand the amazing development of journalism in the last three-quarters of a century—the changes that have taken place in newspaper-making both as to its editorial side and its mechanics.

The elder Bennett was not primarily a journalist. He was a schoolmaster, but he was the first to "strike the gait"—to see what was lacking in the old conventional way of presenting the news. He has been credited with inventing what has come to be known as sensational journalism. He pursued his way without a trammel, and won a phenomenal success. For many years the New York Herald had some justification in its claim to being the greatest newspaper in the world.

The younger Bennett succeeded to an inheritance with which he was entirely familiar. He had been the managing editor, and being endowed with his father's journalistic genius he not only maintained the Herald in the eminence it had gained, but increased its vogue and himself became a world figure. Those who have to do with newspapers realize the considerable task it is, while directly on the job, to maintain a success after success has been achieved. Bennett's feat of keeping the Herald in the foremost place among journals of the world while residing in Europe therefore is a sensational record to those best able to understand. He gained fame for himself and his newspaper through original and daring enterprises, but was best known to the craft by his unusual and eccentric methods.

In a despatch relating to his career occurs the statement that "the younger Bennett was one of the first to sound the impersonal note" in journalism. This is not exactly clear, for he is almost the last of that galaxy of journalists whose names were synonymous with their journals. He long survived his contemporaries, but to the day of his death, to speak of the Herald always served to remind of Bennett, and conversely. Raymond of the Times, Greeley of the Tribune, Bryant of the Post, and in a later era, Dana of the Sun, exemplified the personality of journalism it is true, but none of them to the extent or in the striking manner that Bennett did.

It is a far cry, indeed, from the journalism of the period when the Herald was founded and the individual editor was the important factor, to the present day, when the great newspaper is an institution and so completely impersonal.

TURNING OUT SHIPS.

Encouraging word comes from Washington concerning the ship output throughout the United States. Compared with the lack of progress in the aeroplane program, the report of the shipping board stands out in marked contrast. It is a satisfaction to the people of the east San Francisco bay district to know that this locality is performing its full part in speeding up production.

The United States Shipping Board reports that since the first of the year eighty ships of 621,241 dead weight tons have been delivered. Month by month ships and tonnage have increased. In January eleven vessels of 91,441 tons were turned over to the government. In February, sixteen ships of 123,100 tons were delivered, and in March twenty-one ships, with the dead weight tonnage advanced to 166,700. Then came April with the greatest tonnage of any one month, when thirty-two ships of 240,000 tons were put into commission.

There is every assurance that deliveries will increase monthly. According to present estimates, close to 400,000 men will be employed in the shipyards before the end of 1918, if plans now under way are carried out. The total number of men now engaged in shipbuilding is 271,829, and of this number 43,672 are working on fabricated steel ships, 151,022 on steel ships other than fabricated, and 46,525 on wooden ships. The shipping board expects to have 266 wooden vessels of 945,200 dead weight tons under the American flag at the end of 1918. Since the bickering ceased in the board, shipbuilding has been speeded up.

APOTHEOSIS OF THE PIG.

One of the queer incidents of the war is the organization in Eastern States of "pig clubs," the members of which are bankers, boys and girls, and sows. The parents of the children furnish the sows, and the boys and girls feed and care for the sows and for the little pigs when they pass from a milk diet to a menu of swill and corn. The food will be bought with money loaned by the bankers, to be repaid in the fall when the pigs have been nurtured into hoghood.

In Arkansas, Alabama, North Carolina, Louisiana, Georgia, Texas, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Indiana, Nebraska and Massachusetts over 30,000 pig clubs are reported to be in existence. At the inception of the pig club movement the Department of Agriculture at Washington issued a circular asking bankers all over the country to provide sows, so that the children's pig clubs might increase and multiply and bring joy and prosperity to the land.

Thus the banker would have two pigs at the end of the first year, four at the end of the second year, eight at the end of the third year and so on, doubling each year. In twenty years he would have 1,048,576 sows, and in ten years more would have 1,068,621,824 pigs. Which for a small country banker would be a very good investment.

NOTES and COMMENT

Hurland may be horrified by the action of local authorities of Fairview, Oklahoma, in tacking notices on German churches ordering worshippers to couch their invocations in "American language." For there are doubtless many who, having read the Kaiser's frequent coupling of himself with the deity, are obsessed with the idea that God can only understand German.

After many weeks the Senate is to resume consideration of the case of Senator La Follette. Conditions are not quite as favorable for the Wisconsin Senator as they were, and they are getting less so, and possibly the resumption is at his instance. The country is becoming more irritable as to courses of action in which he is offended, and it may be the part of wisdom to bring the matter to a conclusion while the bringing is good.

A controversy appears to be in progress, one angle of which is between Theodore Roosevelt and George Creel. There is need of but one guess as to the expectation of the country as to which will come off with laurels.

It is foreshadowed that railroad rates are to be advanced 25 per cent. Advocates of government ownership who find it necessary to patronize the railways will thus have the proposition brought home to them in a practical way.

It is probable that Count Luxburg will have a reckoning with the Kaiser when he arrives. As the Hun representative in the Argentine he certainly muddled things, but the reckoning will not be primarily for that reasoning. It will be because he was not competent to do what he did without giving away the Hun program.

Austria apparently has taken account of this country's method in planning a breadless day. According to all accounts it will not come hard, for the people of parts of the realm are already well used to foodless days.

Candy-makers and manufacturers of other unessential saccharine goods are to go under a new certificate-of-purchase plan on the twentieth instant. They will be restricted to 80 per cent of last year's consumption of sugar. This is to assure a sufficient supply for domestic use, canning purposes and the manufacture of essential foods.

A new wrinkle is a burglar who poses as a paralytic. One such is reported from San Francisco. He had the nerve to withstand tests of pluckiness, but when opportunity offered he jumped twenty feet out of a window and escaped.

The man who rode a horse half way up the steps of the capitol at Washington, and after arrest indulged in observations about horse sense, was not adopting that crude method of introducing it in high places, but was a little queer, and was placed under observation.

London newspapers are hinting that Japan's time to get in the world has arrived. That country was anxious to get in via Vladivostok some time back, but at that time there were hints the other way. However, the Japanese have something at stake, and when they are definitely called upon it is probable that they will respond.

"Anybody who has within him the power to organize vast, or the faith to discover and invent, wants to be days in Washington," says Pres. Benjamin Franklin. It is presumable means to help the government. But not always are important tasks assigned to men eminently fitted for them. Schwab got a job, but there are other chances that could be mentioned that are not so satisfactory.

Madame Botchkareva is here. She is a matinee favorite. The classification that can be better understood is that she is an amazon, and organized the first battalion of women fighters of which much was heard in the news from the Russian front in those days when both men and women stood for the defense of their country.

Felix Frankfurter is the name of the new war labor co-ordinator. It is a patriotic job and he is a good American, but if he should get legal permission to omit the last six letters in signing his name he would be following a fashion set by quite a number who find themselves burdened name-wise.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

We must win the war first. The accomplishment of this has precedence over everything. We must forget bond issues and the extravagant use of the people's money for civic improvements at this time. Many cities are "topping off" ornamental employees. Where there were two, one now finds time to perform the work and still has time to roll a few cigarettes and do politics. —Richmond Terminal.

For complaining that drunken auto drivers sentenced by him are being released by the Butte County Parole Board without consulting with him, Judge Le Rossignol has drawn the editorial thunder of the Oroville Register, which demands that his sensibilities be massaged with a ten-pound sledge hammer. The tempest is not likely to make the judge more lenient to the next whiskey-filled autoist who appears before him for sentence. —Chico Enterprise.

It is reported that Governor Stephens has put one over the others seeking his office. He managed to get into the good graces of an editorial convention by singing a song before making an address to the newspaper men. The other men in the field having no musical talent, have got to do something to counteract this move. Colonel Lucas says Friend W. Richardson is no singer, not even a Wheeler and Wilson, while Hayes of San Jose is a great editor but can sing only on low E's, and Francis J. Heney hardly knows one tune from another. The only tunes he does know are "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing" and "How Tedious and Tasteless the Hour." —San Luis Obispo Tribune.

SECRET ORDERS FROM THE "GENERAL STAFF"

THE HOUSE REPORTER

(From a speech by Representative Madden of Illinois.)

Mr. Madden—It may be that what is said on the floor of the House is not always important, and perhaps in many cases it is not. If it is not worth preserving, of course the thing to do is to do away with the reporters.

Mr. Butler—To do away with the Record.

Mr. Madden—And if you do away with the Record you will, of course, do away with the reporters. That might possibly be a good thing to do, but we shall never do that; and if we are going to insist upon having what we say reported, written out and handed back to us for revision in five or ten minutes after it is spoken, then we ought to enable the kind of facilities that will enable the reporters to give us what we want—applause—and you cannot furnish that in a haphazard way. The gentleman from Wisconsin says it is easy to get stenographers. Yes, but what kind of stenographers? I have been trying to get them. The kind that come to you looking for a job are enough to drive a man to drink. (Laughter.) It is outrageous for them to classify themselves as stenographers. They do not know any more about stenography than a last year's bird's nest; that is, the most of them who come around looking for a job. It is difficult to get a good man or a good woman in the stenographic line today at any price, and these people who are required to transcribe the debates of the House are required to be experts. The reporters themselves have not the time, and they ought not to be required to do this transcribing. If this was a million dollar proposition there would not be a word said against it; but it happens to involve only about ten or fifteen dollars, and of course we are going to take a half a day in objections to it. We never have any trouble when it comes to a billion dollars. That goes over the heads of most of the members here. If it reaches only a million, it goes over the heads of a great many, but when it gets down to $10, of course quite a few object to it. (Laughter.) Here is a case where we hear an objection to the expenditure of a needed small sum of money to furnish information to members, whose speeches are rewritten by the reporters in nine cases out of ten, because if they were taken down and transcribed literally and sent to the public in that form they would in many cases be a sad mess. (Laughter.)

I am glad we have a fine lot of reporters here and that they have a lot of expert transcribers, because as the manuscript comes back to us it looks like a literary gem compared with what it was when it was uttered. (Applause.) So I have some sympathy with the demands of the reporters, because they have made it possible for some gentlemen here to appear in the role of polished orators, when sometimes they have not uttered a sentence grammatically correct in the course of what they had to say upon the floor. They have been thought to have some literary ability, due altogether to the fact that the reporters know what words to use when members fail to use the right words. (Applause.) Of course there are exceptions to that rule; but there are some people here who use worse English than I do, and I think in the interest of good order and good custom and good grammar and in the interest of spreading the impression among the people to the effect that members of Congress are really what they are not, why, we ought to pass this resolution without any further talk about it. (Applause.)

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO

Half a hundred of Oakland's young men met in the office of Judge Fred Clift and organized a troop of cavalry to fight the Spaniards. An election of officers of the troop resulted: E. C. Leffingwell, captain; A. A. Moore, Jr. and H. S. Pugh, first lieutenants; Abraham Leach, second lieutenant; Dr. J. J. Medeiros, surgeon. George Bayliss, well known as a trainer and owner of race horses, died at the Randall House, in Emeryville. A concert was given at Mills college by Professor Lorin Lasser, H. P. Passmore and Guilio Milnetti. The rate of pay for soldiers was raised from $13 to $15.60 a month. Oakland donated liberally to the Red Cross fund, raising more than the $2000 called for.

SPEEDERS TRY TO TURN FINES TO RED CROSS

If the law permitted, the Red Cross would derive considerable funds from speeders, according to Justice P. C. Quinn of Alameda county, who has received two letters from speeders offering to donate to the Red Cross in lieu of paying their court fines. While commending their patriotism, Judge Quinn has advised them that the court cannot handle contributions for the Red Cross and that they must appear for sentence for speeding.

W. A. Halley of 7 Eden Court, Berkeley, charged with speeding, admitted his guilt in a letter to Judge Quinn, in which was enclosed a check for $5. "To show that I am patriotic, I want you to turn over this $5 to the Red Cross in lieu of a fine," wrote Halley.

Judge Quinn returned the check together with a letter advising Halley not to be so ostentatious in his patriotic contribution, and ordering him to come up for sentence.

M. E. Cory, of the California Film Exchange of San Francisco, wrote to Judge Quinn, offering if sentence for speeding was suspended, to bring a troupe of moving picture players to Alameda county and give a performance for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Figuring that that would cost Cory about $200 and that his fine for speeding would not exceed $25, Judge Quinn declared that the offer did not appear to be prompted altogether by the motive of escaping the fine. It was refused and Cory, too, will have to appear for sentence.

S. Hyman of 934 Balboa street, San Francisco, arrested for speeding, sent two checks, one for $15 and the other for $10 to Judge Quinn yesterday, and wrote: "Now, Judge, you can take your choice of which check you are going to take. Please send back the other."

"I am returning both your checks with my endorsement by way of the bank, since your fine is $25," wrote Judge Quinn in reply.

According to District Attorney Ezra Decoto, number of the eighteen speeders, who came before Judge Quinn yesterday, pleaded that they

TAKES STEPS FOR FINANCING CITY MARKET

By HARRY L. SULLY.
Commissioner W. H. Edwards has taken the initiative in seeking preparation of definite plans for the establishment of a municipal market on a permanent basis and will urge provision in the budget for the coming year. As finance commissioner he addressed a communication to the board of market directors today asking for their budget and suggesting a meeting at his office tomorrow afternoon to discuss plans for the establishment of the market on a permanent basis.

Commissioner of Public Health and Safety F. F. Jackson, in urging the passage of the ordinance providing for the temporary municipal market, asked by the women's committee to dispose of the surplus produce of this season as a war conservation measure, today said:

"These women have performed a service for the community which entitles them to the highest praise," said Commissioner Jackson. "They shall have the cooperation of my department. Mrs. Hamilton has done exceptionally fine work in reporting and directing the war garden work and Mrs. Stone has given no less valuable service."

ON PERMANENT PLANS.
While plans were being worked out today by the women for the municipal market, the larger work of placing the market plan on a permanent basis were being given consideration. The market to be established at Twelfth and Harrison streets is considered primarily as a war measure for conservation of this season's surplus and as an aid to cutting the high costs. The land was granted to the women's committee by the Realty Syndicate through C. P. Murdoch, and it is realized that this permit is temporary and intended to tide the market over only until the city can establish a permanent municipal free market.

The market will be governed by the women's committee with the city authorities and so regulated that no advantages of its privileges may be taken by hucksters and peddlers, the intention being that only bonafide producers or their paid agents shall be permitted its use.

The movement for a market on a permanent basis, initiated over a year ago by Mayor John L. Davis when he appointed the Board of Market Directors, and endorsed by a majority of the prior city improvement associations of Oakland, will come to a head, it is hoped, at the conferences between Commissioner Edwards and the market directors.

EDWARDS FOR APPROPRIATION.
Commissioner Edwards today commended the work of the women's committee and their plan to start a market today, and expressed his willingness to champion the inclusion of a moderate appropriation in next year's budget, provided a practical working plan is submitted by the market directors.

Commissioner Edwards' letter to the market board says in part: "This is a very important question and one upon which there is great need of reaching a proper solution. "Food conservation means much towards winning the war and reduction in the cost of living is essential in securing a contented people at home, and I feel we should do all possible in helping to bring about this condition."

JUSTICE MELTS WHEN TINY NEW SHAY ARRIVES

Deputy District Attorney Frank M. Shay registered wrath, indignation, contempt and every other emotion of a derogatory nature he could express at one and the same time on his mobile countenance as he denounced a speeder in the Livermore Justice Court. The speeder wilted under the attack and Judge J. G. Fitzgerald calculated whether $50 would meet the enormity of the offense.

Just then a messenger arrived posthaste from Oakland by auto, mobile and interrupted the court proceedings to press a note into the prosecutor's hand. Shay read it and beamed indulgently upon the speeder, the judge and the court.

"It's an eight-pound boy," he announced, and the speeder, the judge and the court smiled back sympathetically.

The speeder, as he was let off with a $10 fine, Shay came near breaking the speed laws himself in hastening back to Merritt hospital.

PLAN SHAPING TO CUT FORCE AT AUDITORIUM

Whether or not the Civil Service Board is shorn of its present powers next Friday through passage by the City Council of ordinances which would make a radical change in the board's status, the members last night arranged to hold a conference with Commissioner F. E. Morse an hour before the Council meets Friday to discuss ways and means of cutting down the payroll at the Municipal Auditorium. The suggestion that a survey be made at the Auditorium met with unanimous approval of the board members.

Under the pending ordinances, which are backed by Mayor Davie, Commissioner Jackson and Commissioner Morse, any future surveys in any department could only be made by the board at the request of the Council, to which body the report and findings in the matter would have to be submitted. The board would no longer have any say in the matter of raising salaries or filling positions in any of the departments through authorization of the same.

In discussing the situation at the Auditorium last night, President Roscoe D. Jones of the board stated that in his opinion there is no need for any permanent employees there other than janitors and engineers. The others could be engaged on a daily basis of pay whenever needed, he suggested.

A Home Industry Widely Recognized

It may not be known to those not well-acquainted with local manufacturing that a Home Industry was the first to grind the new "Caltex" lens for far and near seeing. This accomplishment has attracted worldwide attention in optical circles as the most important step forward since the days of Benjamin Franklin who invented, in a crude form, the first glasses for this purpose. Scientific men concede that "Caltex" lenses overcome all objectionable features in other bifocals, thus putting this new lens in a distinctive class of its own.

SOCIETY News of WOMEN'S CLUBS

Mothers of sons in United States service are to comprise the first division of the mammoth parade Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, when the great nation-wide Red Cross drive will have been launched for the ensuing week. All the mothers of men serving their country, whether they be members of the Red Cross or not, have been asked to participate in the parade as a representative contingent, for the quota from the east bay cities is by no means a small one and is an honor and credit to the city.

Shoulder to shoulder will march this great gathering of women in the great spirit of sacrifice signified by their emblems. And among the service flags carried there will shine forth the gold star as well as the blue—in honor of the boys who have already given their lives for freedom. The Red Cross workers will constitute one of the largest divisions—there being 101 auxiliaries, each bearing its own banner and headed by a flower-decked auto bearing the officers of the auxiliary. From this feature has originated the title "The Parade Beautiful."

And the Red Cross Superfund Shop—its personnel drawn from Oakland and Piedmont. They will be notable in the line of march for their chic uniforms of blue with the insignia of the Red Cross worn upon cap and apron. They will march two by two, their leader, Mrs. Bernard Ransome, general chairman of Oakland's shop.

The Wool Fund, one of the larger divisions, under the leadership of Mrs. Horatio Bonestell, will play its part upon this memorable day. Fifteen bands of music are featured in the great review, of which the school children and Junior Red Cross will form no small part. Then will come the various organizations of the city. All social dates and benefits have been set aside for Saturday—the whole day is to be devoted to the furthering of the Red Cross drive. Willingly have the dates for benefits been postponed which by chance fell upon that day. The spirit of sacrifice prevails throughout the country.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hall are giving a dinner dance at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco in honor of their son, Paul M. Kydd, the occasion being his birthday, and also serving as a farewell to his Phi Delta Theta fraternity brothers, since the guest of honor is leaving to enlist in the service. The guests, all college friends, will be seated at a round table elaborated with roses and flags. Places will be laid for Mr. and Mrs. Seth Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hall, the host and hostess; Miss Flora Edwards, Miss Margaret Harrison, Miss Agnes Harrison, Miss Alice Kline, Miss Sally Hansen, Miss Mary Park, Miss Gladys Vander-Nail, and Messrs. Paul Kydd, Ivan Woodward, Chris Trowbridge, Norris Nash, Rob Thomas, William Waste, Russell Kern, James Eva, Willis Halstead and Lawrence Regan.

Miss Harriet Barbara Chamberlain has come down from her home in Auburn to attend the concert given by Gall-Curel. She is the guest of Mrs. E. A. Rodgers and her daughter, Mrs. Evans. The concert is at the Palace hotel across the city on the week-end. Miss Chamberlain's brother, Lieutenant Lee Chamberlain, is in the aviation corps at Texas, and another brother, Lieutenant Tom Chamberlain, is with the First Aircraft Battalion, now at the front. Miss Chamberlain is being entertained informally by her many friends about the bay section.

The Armenian-Syrian Relief and Navy League banner, which has been held Saturday afternoon in the Armenian headquarters in Thirtieth street, has been postponed, in deference to the Red Cross celebration upon that day. At the meeting of the date the committee was unaware of the approaching drive, and Mrs. Henry Wetherbee, chairman, announced the postponement of the benefit. The committee is now working to have the banner added to their work fund. No future date has been decided upon as yet.

Mrs. A. F. Gimbal of Wayne avenue opened her home last Thursday for a card party, the members of a club and their guests assembling for the afternoon. The proceeds of the committee are being used to help the soldiers. The sum of the money received upon the last date. The same committee were entertained at luncheon yesterday at the home of Mrs. Theodore Schleuter. Members of the club are: Mrs. Harry Chubb, Mrs. J. Oliver Montgomery, Mrs. Theodore Schleuter, Mrs. Roy Tompkins, Mrs. A. F. Gimbal and Miss May Coblentz.

Mrs. Gimbal's two sons are now in the service, both having gone with the first University of California

WATCH NERVOUS CHILDREN

St. Vitus' dance is a disease easier to prevent than to cure. Nervous children should therefore be carefully watched for symptoms of the approach of this disease.

Long before the child becomes awkward and nervous things there is a period in which the appetite is fickle and the patient is tired and listless. The jerking movements characteristic of the disease come much later. In the early stages a good tonic for the blood and nerves will go far toward preventing the development of the disease. But the tonic must be free from alcohol and opiates for these make the nervous condition much worse. When your child appears listless, prefers to sit and read rather than go out and play and requires altogether too much time to get his or her lessons, give a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills build up the blood, nourish the starved nerves and improve the general health. There has been no increase in the price of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Your druggist sells them or you can order direct from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Price 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50. Booklet on nervous disorders free.

To the ultimate end that a health district may be formed in the east-end of Alameda county, the Child's Welfare League of Alameda county gave its endorsement this week to the Hayward Hygienic Laboratory and formally passed a resolution that that body allow to the current expenses of the institution the sum of $100 a month for the term of one year. It is understood that this sum in no way covers the cost of upkeep in the Hayward health center, which is ministering insofar as possible to the towns and rural communities which are in traveling distance of the Laboratory. The additional funds will be raised by private subscription among those who know of the value of the work and its relation to the well-being of the county outside of the incorporated cities.

It is not to be forgotten that fully 75 per cent of the population of the east district in Alameda county is foreign, and that they have not the sanitary and health standards of Americans. More even than in the cities, where public opinion is an aid to boards of health, is supervision needed and instruction required in the outlying sections. The purpose of the Hayward Laboratory is not only to maintain the standards of milk for infants and give aid to those who suffer, but to educate the people themselves to see the need of the establishment and to accept of it as such as the state law provides for.

While there is no man or woman who will be so indifferent as not to admit that health is the greatest asset in the world and the most valuable to the furthering of the property-holder, who needs must be willing to be assessed that health work may be carried on, requires some persuasion and some conviction of his obligation by visual and actual demonstration.

The preliminary steps in the creating of a health district are most simple. The people of the proposed district offer a petition to the Board of Supervisors of the county in which it will be located. In turn the supervisors levy such a tax upon the property-owners as shall cover the cost of maintenance. The health district is then a fact and may proceed with its work. The greatest obstacle is the unwillingness of the taxpayers to assume greater financial responsibilities. The Hayward Hygienic Laboratory is asking that the allowance be made for the health district.

the end that a definite educational campaign may be inaugurated with the intent of convincing taxpayers that by the establishment of the health district they will be able to save money and life and create a healthier people. Health district would include San Leandro, Hayward, Livermore, Pleasanton, the small communities and all the rural district east of the Oakland city line.

The Child's Welfare League has become a member of the California State Conference of Social Agencies. Oakland unit, Councils of National and State Defense, does not believe in the aviation corps at Texas, and another brother, Lieutenant Tom Chamberlain, is with the First Aircraft Battalion, now at the front. Miss Chamberlain is being entertained informally by her many friends about the bay section.

Mrs. Carl Lassen was hostess at an informal luncheon recently, her guests including Mrs. Carl Ogburn, Mrs. J. G. Gow, Mrs. Glenn Pierce, Mrs. Harry Lassen and Mrs. Lionel Caplan.

Mrs. Carroll Doty was hostess at luncheon yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Gow, a coterie of her intimate friends sharing her hospitality.

One of the large gatherings of the week was that of the Delphian club members—the personnel of the club is between six and seven hundred—which met at luncheon at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco. A large number of east bay matrons were present, among them a number of the Mills alumnae.

The latter part of June, Mrs. Carlton Parker, widow of the late Professor Parker, and her children will come to Berkeley to make their home. Mrs. Parker expects to reside permanently here. Before her marriage a few years ago, it will be remembered, she was Miss Cornelia Stratton, a brilliant graduate student of the University of California. Mrs. Parker intends to take up the unfinished work of the late educator, dealing with labor problems.

Sharing the duties of hostess this afternoon are Mrs. Walter Scott Gann and Mrs. Frederick Lionel Wolff, who entertained at the home of the former in honor of four interesting matrons. The honor guests were Mrs. John Norton Pomeroy, a sister of Mrs. Gann, who is wintering in California; Mrs. Ray Robertson, who is a sister of Mrs. Wolff, a new resident in Claremont, whose former home was in Denver; Mrs. Virginia Goodsell of Los Angeles, who is a sister of Mrs. Charles Willard Gann and her husband, and Mrs. John Mendell, who leaves soon to make her home elsewhere in the country. The hours of the tea are from 4 to 6 o'clock and the pretty home will be the gathering place of many old friends of the visitors.

Mrs. Malcolm Whirlow Scotchier (Flora Jenness), with her husband, has returned to Berkeley, the young matron a guest at the home of her parents, and Scotchier now is in training in the officers' camp at Mare Island.

Betrothal cards have been told to friends the engagement of Miss Edwina May Jones of Alameda and Ensign Lloyd Jefferson Larkin. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. Edwin G. Jones, a graduate of Mills college and former student of the University of California.

Larkin is now with the naval reserve at Mare Island, where he is stationed with the officers' training camp. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Larkin.

that 1:30 is any too early to open the important conference to which all the women of the city are summoned tomorrow afternoon in the Unitarian church, to hear not only what has been accomplished during the past twelve months in war defense work but to help in making plans for what will be done in the coming twelve months. This week marks the first anniversary of the organization of the local unit as it does also of the national and state bodies. It is proposed to make the all-afternoon program interesting and vital to the women of the city and one from which they may take away some idea of what their contribution to the nation may become.

Dr. Adelaide Brown, to whom has been given the task of directing the program of the "Children's Year" in California, adapting it to the needs of the state that the full quota of 2000 babies out of the possible 100,000 may be saved this year, will be one of the hour's speakers. California, next month, together with all the other states, will inaugurate a weighing and measuring campaign. The reasons for this work and its possibilities will be outlined by Dr. Brown.

The policy and plans of the Woman's Land Army of America, Northern California Division, will be presented by Miss Marguerite Ogden, who has been named to the position of its director. What girls can do for their country during the vacation period will be made the theme of a practical talk which will be given by Miss Ruth Wilder, dean of women in the Technical high school, and chairman of the committee on girls' work, under the Alameda County Woman's Committee, Councils of National and State Defense.

In addition there will be brief surveys presented of the work of the Young Woman's Christian Association, the Oakland Federation of Mothers Clubs, the National League for Women's Service, the Woman's Christian Temperance Association, the Red Cross, the Women's Army of Oakland, and local organizations.

Sequoia Parent-Teacher Association is holding a business meeting on Friday afternoon, after which the newly elected board of directors will be formally installed. The officers who will guide the association during the coming year are: President, Mrs. T. H. Wetzel; vice-president, Mrs. Franklin Rhoda; recording secretary, Mrs. F. Thalen; treasurer, Mrs. E. Farrell; financial secretary, Mrs. E. Barker; auditor, Mrs. E. Miller; historian, Mrs. Anderson.

The home department is arranging the program for the Friday meeting of the W. T. Frick School Parents' Teacher Association. Mrs. J. V. Evans presiding as chairman. The Red Cross auxiliary will meet tomorrow with Mrs. Thoe Brown, making hospital garments to be added to the store near the local.

Next week the volunteer workers will gather at the residence of Mrs. H. B. Brier for their patriotic task.

Oakland women's committee, Councils of National and State Defense, has issued the May bulletin, the second in the series which describes the purposes and aims of the work. It contains announcements of the week's meetings, a forecast of the "Weight Your Baby Campaign," a statement by the war endorsement committee, official word from the Federal Food Administration regarding the hoarding of flour, appreciation from Fred H. Brier, superintendent of schools, to the Women's Army in the "Keep Your Children in School" drive, and numerous war quotations.

A parade of the students will open the May festival and fair which is planned for Thursday by the Fruitvale School Parent-Teacher Association. The school will be the school band leading the merry group of youngsters who understand that the entire function is arranged as a benefit for the Oakland chapter of the American Red Cross and in which they have a real part to bear. Races, games, music, community singing, tableaux, will give the diversion to the benefit which will open at 10 o'clock. Booths where good things to eat may be purchased will be authorized. Prices will be prepaid by members of the club. Many fancy novelties have been contributed to the association and will fill a series of attractive concessions. Mrs. J. E. Daniels is president of the Fruitvale association.

"Sugarless" Candy On Sale Here Tomorrow

Oakland's candy makers begin a system of conservation tomorrow that will make all candies "sugarless." After tomorrow, by order of the food administration, no sugar can be used in soda water, condiments, chocolate, candy, beverage or fruit syrups, flavoring extracts, chewing gum, sweet pickles or wines.

Ice cream is to be spared, being placed in the "preferred" class, because the government feels that cream and milk must be used before it spoils. Candy makers will be forced to use natural fruit juices and sugar substitutes, such as honey, saccharine and other sweeteners.

Beauty Specialist Tells Secret

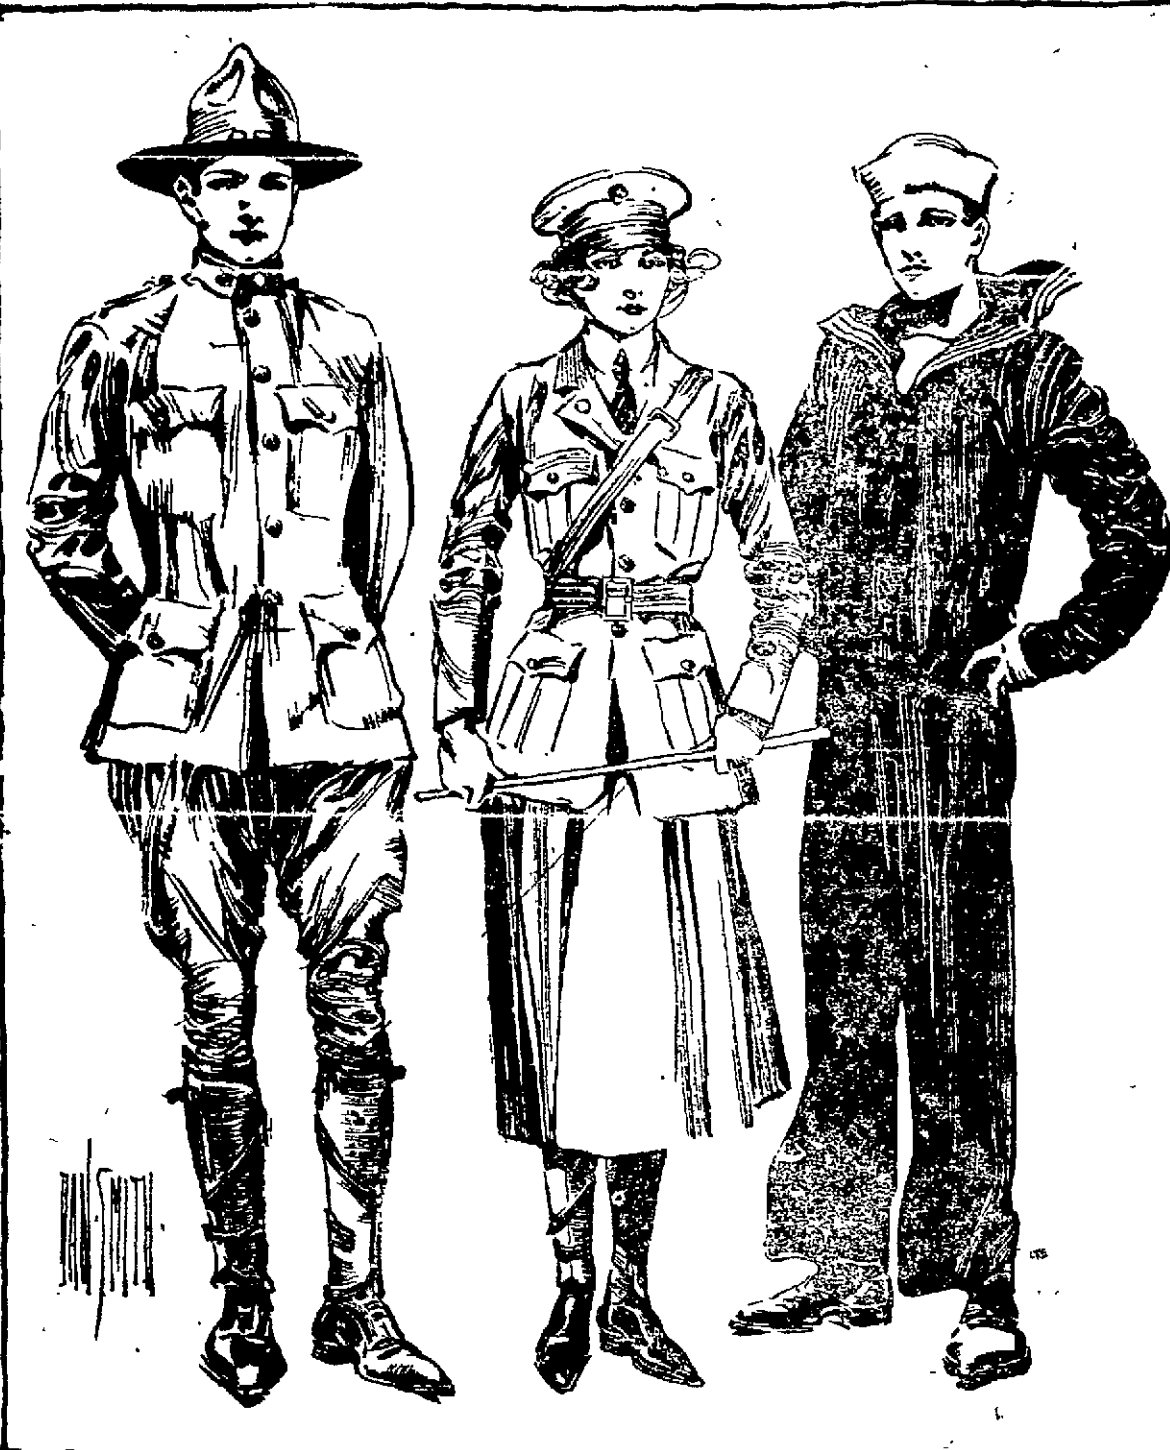

A Beauty Specialist Gives Simple Home Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advertisement.

AT YOUR SERVICE

By Dan Smith

WE see them wherever we go these days—straight, trim, rosy of cheek and clear of eyes, the soldier in khaki, the sailor in blue with his "nifty" white hat, and—WHO is that making the three of a kind that's better than any lone pair? Why—it's the NEW spirit of womanly service doing HER part for patriotism. Three guardsmen they are—their hearts beating high—ON your service at YOUR service. For he or she who serves is a VICTOR.

Revelations of a Wife

HOW MADGE MANAGED HER ERRANDS AND HER TELEPHONE CALL TO JACK.

The telephone booths in the drug store nearest our apartment were occupied, and people were waiting for their turn before telephoning Jack, or should I do my other errands first, trusting that I should have better luck at the drug store near the florist's?

A glance at the clock sent me hurrying from the store. Five minutes to eleven. I must hurry through my errands breathlessly if I expected to be back in time to greet my mother-in-law.

The delicatessen shop was first on my way. As I entered the door I saw that the little shop was almost crowded. The smiling proprietor, his wife and a neat-looking girl, evidently their daughter, were bustling around filling orders with wonderful celerity.

I intensely dislike trying to get waited on out of turn, but my sense of haste made me timidly essay it.

"Excuse you any half-pint bottles of cream?" I tossed the question over the heads of three women at the wife of the proprietor.

"Oh, yes, ma'am. Plenty."

"I have other errands and am in a great hurry. Will you please hand a bottle ready for me on my return? Here is the money."

"Surely, ma'am. What is the name?"

"Mrs. Graham." As I left the shop I was conscious of the glances of the women waiting to be served. Why is it that the average woman always carries a figurative chip on her shoulder?

The florist's shop was a block farther on. I found a number of customers there also. There was nothing for me to do but to wait my turn, for if I left the store to seek a telephone, new customers might take my "turn."

ERRANDS AND FLOWERS.

I walked around the store looking at the display of blossoms in the big glass cases. I knew what I wanted for my dining table, a cluster of daffodils and narcissus. I could still visualize the delicate beauty of the blossoms Dicky had brought me for our first chafing dish supper. He had rummaged in the kitchen closet until he had found an old brown crock into which he had put the flowers. I had not believed until I saw the effect that flowers could be so beautiful in a setting so commonplace. It was the note needed to complete the dining room with its dull green paper.

flower she preferred, or of whether she cared for flowers at all. But the sight of some beautiful long-stemmed sweet peas made my decision for me. No woman on earth could resist these blossoms, I told myself.

"How much are the sweet peas?"

"Thirty-five cents a bunch."

"I will take two bunches. Now if you will add some sprays of asparagus fern and do my purchases up quickly, I shall be very grateful. I am in great haste."

"Very well, madam." He gathered the flowers up and hurried to the counter where a pretty girl was putting flowers in boxes.

"I'll please hurry this order?" I heard him ask her, and saw her quick nod and smile of response.

But while my sense of justice compelled me to admit that the girl with deft fingers packed the flowers as quickly as it was possible for any one to do so, yet it seemed hours before the saleswoman came to me with a large green box and my change.

"Three-fifty-eight, three-fifty-four, two—thank you, madam. Good day." His bow was really courteous.

I looked at the clock as I hurried out. Twenty minutes after eleven! The train would reach the station at half after eleven. But Dicky had said that his mother was fussy about her baggage, so that would delay them. What was it he at the apartment?

"If the train is on time we ought to be here within a half-hour after it gets in. That would bring us here about 12 o'clock. But those trains are often late."

"Twelve o'clock, if the train gets in on time. I missed. That gives me plenty of time, after all."

At the delicatessen store upon my way back to the drug store I was delayed but a moment. The proprietor looked inquiringly at me as I came opposite to the counter.

"I answered his look."

"You have a bottle of cream for me."

"Oh, yes, ma'am. Here it is," and a neatly wrapped bottle was passed to me across the counter.

A SURPRISING REALIZATION.

As I entered the drug store again my spirits arose. One of the booths was empty. I deposited the cream and the box of flowers on a counter near the booth, and took my muff and purse in my hand.

"I already had a nickel in my hand. Slipping the cord of my muff and the chain of my purse over my right wrist I took down the receiver with my left hand. The depositing of the nickel was a matter of some difficulty, hampered as I was by the muff and purse, but I finally got it in, and heard central's familiar, "Number?"

"Stayesant 4688."

The connection was quickly made, and it was but a moment before I heard a sleepy sounding voice, "Hotel Albert."

"Mr. Rickett, please. Mr. Jack Bickett."

There was a click, and then a long wait. I sat in the booth and my mind crunched in the tooth.

Suppose Jack were not there! I would have no other opportunity to telephone him.

"Not that I could not stand it if I were not able to talk with him before he left for the war. Never in my life had my brother-cousin meant so much to me as he did now that I faced the prospect of losing him forever."

Garis' BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGLY AND SAMMIE'S

Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

When Uncle Wiggly Longears, the rabbit gentleman, was coming along through the woods one day having been to the candy store to get some new lollypop paint for his hollow stump bungalow, he met Sammie Littlelall, the bunny boy. Sammie was roughly kicking the leaves and sticks and stones out of his way, and Sammie's face had a very unhappy and unpleasant look on it.

"What's the matter, Sammie?" asked Uncle Wiggly, carefully setting down his hat of paint so none of it would get on his whiskers. "What's the matter?"

"Oh—nothing," said the rabbit boy, sort of casual and indifferent like.

But Uncle Wiggly knew better. He could tell, by looking at Sammie Littlelall, that something had gone wrong. But Uncle Wiggly also knew better than to keep on asking questions.

Sometimes, when little rabbit bunny boys get cross and stick out their lips and don't trouble their pink noses as they ought to, you can tell that something is wrong without asking them what it is. Uncle Wiggly was this way with Sammie.

"Well, goodbye, my little rabbit nephew," said the bunny uncle, as he picked up his hat of red lollypop paint and started off through the woods again. "Goodbye and good luck."

Sammie only grumbled an answer and went on scuffling his feet in the leaves. It wasn't a bit nice of him.

"I'll just stop at Sammie's underground burrow house and find out what the matter is," said Uncle Wiggly to himself. "His mother will be sure to know, and perhaps I can help Sammie out of the trouble he seems to be in. That's what I'll do."

So, on his way to his own hollow stump bungalow, Mr. Longears stopped at Sammie's house.

"Hello, Sammie boy!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "I don't know what has come over him lately. He's been teasing and teasing and teasing for a tent, and because his father can't buy him one, Sammie is sort of peevish and complaining like."

"Sammie's too bad," said Uncle Wiggly. "Why doesn't Sammie try to make himself a tent? It's a good thing for rabbit boys and girls to try to make playthings for themselves when there is no money to buy them, and especially in war times they should learn to do this. Why doesn't Sammie try to make a tent?"

"Well, I s'pose he ought to," said Mrs. Littlelall. "But I don't believe he knows how or else he hasn't thought of it. He's crazy to play soldier boy and he wants a tent to sit in. Just because I couldn't get him one he went off in the woods."

"Yes, I just met him and I wondered what was the matter," said the bunny uncle. "Well, I'll make Sammie a tent myself."

"How?" asked Mrs. Littlelall.

"I'll show you," said Uncle Wiggly. "Here comes Sammie back now. Don't say a word to him, but you just make the tent."

"So, when Sammie came along, still down on his hands and knees, and pretending not to see the rabbit boy, he called:

"Littlelall, have you a lot of old, big, outside cabbage leaves?"

"Plenty," said the rabbit lady.

"Then please bring them to me, and also some string," said the rabbit gentleman. And when he had the big cabbage leaves, he tied the tops of them around the end of a pole he stuck up in the ground. And the cabbage leaves tied around the pole made just the nicest tent you could imagine."

"That's the best part of it," said Uncle Wiggly, still pretending not to see Sammie. "The best part of it is that when you get hungry you can eat your tent as well as play soldier boy in it."

"Oh, is that a tent for me to play soldier in?" cried the little rabbit boy.

"Yes," said Sammie. "Are you there?" asked Uncle Wiggly in make-believe surprise. "Why, yes, you may have this tent if you like."

"Oh, thank you," cried Sammie. "I didn't know you could make a tent out of just cabbage leaves, a string and a pole."

"Did you try?" softly asked Uncle Wiggly.

"No," replied the rabbit boy. "I did not."

And the bunny uncle never said another word. But Sammie wasn't cross any more. And if it weren't for him, and tells me he saw the board trying to hammer the plain pound cake with the nut file. I'll write the story of Uncle Wiggly and Sammie's rope.

SEN. BREED
ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Senator Arthur H. Breed, president pro tem of the senate, has issued the long-looked-for announcement of his candidacy for lieutenant governor. Breed is the second Alameda county candidate to announce himself for this office. He has been in the assembly since 1912, having been elected to the senate in 1916. He does not go quite as far as Governor Stephens on the prohibition issue. He takes a stand against the saloons, but does not endorse the national prohibition constitutional amendment, although he intimates that if the Republican State convention should adopt a more drastic platform he will abide by the decision.

In the course of his statement, Breed says: "The great issues of the war are essentially of supreme concern. I am intensely interested in the successful prosecution of the war to an American peace and by this I mean a peace by victory. Every energy I possess, every opportunity that comes to me or that I may discover, shall be used to support the government, both as a citizen and as a State official."

He has had the honor to represent in the State Senate the Senatorial district which embraces the University of California at Berkeley, and have felt it an honor as State senator to make the interests of that institution of first importance, and I shall if elected lieutenant governor give the university my devoted attention.

DEMANDS OF WAR. The strictest economy, at this time, will be demanded by the people in the administration of public affairs. I am in hearty accord with this demand. But there are some expenditures with which it would be false economy to dispense. The largest possible crop production should be stimulated and facilitated. The movement of these crops a reasonably continued road construction is imperative.

The demands of war have added greatly to industrial development in California. This should be encouraged and extended so that California shall become, permanently, one of the largest manufacturing, shipping and commercial states in the Union.

I believe that labor should receive a just and proper share in the profits of industry. In the light of human progress, every where apparent, I advocate liberal extension of social and economic legislation in its favor.

EQUALITY OF WOMEN.

I favor and believe in the complete equality of women before the law. The public mind is now definitely centered upon the evils arising out of the use of strong drink. I am on record as having favored our present liquor laws. I believe that the law should be so amended as to abolish the saloon and the sale of high proof liquor and strong drink. I believe they are great evils. I have no hesitancy in saying that the day of the saloon has passed. That is what must be recognized and uniform legislation enacted closing the saloon for once and all. In my opinion the consummation of this reform is the immediate task of the people of this state. Further than that I am not convinced this State should go, but when the Republican State Convention meets this year in accordance with law, and formulates the platform of our party on this subject, I will, if nominated, abide by that decision and stand upon the platform.

Speaker Young of Berkeley is given a full, front page endorsement in the last issue of the California Christian Advocate which sets forth that he was the first man in California to declare for the ratification of the national prohibition amendment. The friends of Senator Breed will no doubt take exception to the statement made in the Advocate article that Young "is by experience better prepared than any other lieutenant governor who has held office in this state."

Pinole Gets Four Stars On Its Flag

PINOLE, May 15.—With the subscriptions to the third Liberty loan made by the employees of the Hercules powder plant, Pinole is the banner town of the county in the recent bonds drive. There were 221 subscribers in Pinole and 1923 for the plant, with a total subscription of $219,000, against a quota of $42,850. The subscriptions at the plant do not show on the Pinole report, however, as they are sent through the headquarters office at Wilmington, Del. Superintendent Warren H. McDevitt, in a letter to the plant, showing the subscriptions made by his men, and which, added to the town's total, entitle it to an honor flag with four stars.

Red Cross Parade Greatest Ever
Plans Made For Drive Next Week

All arrangements have been completed for the big parade which is to mark the opening of the American Red Cross drive for a $100,000,000 war fund. The parade will be the opening event of Red Cross week which begins on May 20 and is expected to outdo anything of its kind every attempted in the city. Final details, according to Max Horvick, general manager of the parade, will be completed today.

The parade will start at 2 o'clock sharp. It will pass over the main downtown streets of the city, over a line of march to be announced later. The parade will be the opening event of Red Cross week which begins on May 20 and is expected to outdo anything of its kind every attempted in the city. Final details, according to Max Horvick, general manager of the parade, will be completed today.

In one detachment there will be more than one hundred decorated automobiles. The honor division of the parade will be given over to the mothers of boys in service. They will wear no uniform but will carry a service flag and the national colors. Following the mother division will come a division of nurses, comprising the graduate nurses' organization of Alameda county.

These two divisions will be followed in turn by the local Red Cross chapter, headed by Miss Helen Kimball, the men's division, drill teams, fraternal bodies, soldiers, sailors and marines, members of the aviation school at the University of California, Boy Scouts, Junior Red Cross organizations and various civic, improvement, commercial and industrial bodies. Every available band in Alameda county has been secured.

Under the leadership of Harry East Miller, who will be grand marshal, the parade will proceed to the Oakland auditorium, where the automobiles will be paraded and a committee of judges will award prize ribbons to those most artistically decorated.

The main drive which starts Monday morning promises to be a whirlwind affair. The slogan "the pay of a day" slogan first adopted by the Building Trades Union, and approved by local bank clerks, county employees and others, is spreading. It will go to various business houses and institutions for approval, and according to the committee will be on everyone's lips before the drive is finished.

An elaborate program of orators have been secured for Red Cross week. Professor Charles Mills Gayley of the University of California, Miss Ethel Moore of the women's organizations of the State Council of Defense, and Alice Flenor, prominent Red Cross worker, will be among those listed. The final analysis will include many prominent persons with reputations as speakers. This latter brigade will include French and English army officers and men just returned from the trenches.

ONE FEATURE.

One of the features will be the cooperation offered by the newsboys. The Red Cross was puzzled over the problem of getting certain Federal propaganda issued from Washington into the hands of people. The newsboys solved the problem by offering to take the pamphlets with their newspapers and put them on the doorsteps of every household in the city in one day.

Announcement has been made by A. W. Merrill, in charge of the organization work of the Allied Colonies for the War Fund Drive, of a schedule of meetings of the various allied committees on the international work which has been undertaken. The French committee will meet tonight at the headquarters of the Red Cross, 1444 Broadway. Thursday night the Chinese committee will meet at the same place and the Italian committee on Friday. The Portuguese committee will meet Saturday night.

How, Why
of Food
ConservationPRACTICAL HINTS
BY OAKLAND FOOD ADMINISTRATION

—Edited by Mrs. W. E. Gibson, Director—

Save wheat! That's the slogan until the next harvest, at least, and probably until the end of the war. As we may be compelled to draw upon the wheat reserved for seed for food, the government has issued a warning to all citizens that every bushel of wheat, even that held for seed must be offered to keep the Allies from starving.

How are we doing it? Hotels and restaurants, hundreds of them, have taken the no-wheat pledge and in order to enable these eating places to carry out their pledge, John McE. Bowman, of New York, chief of the Public Dining Service of the United States Food Administration, has issued a list of wheat substitutes.

Bakers must use twenty-five percent substitutes or go out of business, and they, too, are trying patriotically to produce a commercial loaf using as little wheat flour as possible. Individuals all over the land are abstaining from using wheat in any form, and have adopted the following voluntary ration:

Meat (particularly beef), per week per person, 2½ pounds; sugar, per week per person, 12 ounces; butter, per week per person, 8 ounces; wheat (wheatless if possible), per week per person, 1½ pounds.

Word comes to the women food directors by the Official Food Bulletin, that we are again asked to economize in the consumption of all kinds of meat. We are not asked to return to the meatless day yet, but are asked to eliminate waste and conserve all meat and poultry, especially beef. Milk and milk products we may use freely, and can be substituted in various forms.

Next week will open a drive for the use of fruits and vegetables.

Under the present conditions, when it is desirable to save staple foods, we should use as much as possible of perishable foods, particularly fruits and vegetables. They supply bulk, mineral salts and certain substances essential to health.

Spinach, which grows so well on our coast, used with eggs, milk or cheese is an excellent meat substitute.

SPINACH SOUP.

2 cups water from the cooking of spinach.

1 quart milk.

1 tablespoon fat.

1 tablespoon rice flour.

1 teaspoon salt.

Watch for the fruit and vegetable drive.

Wilful neglect of his wife and family is the charge contained in the divorce complaint of Mrs. Jennifer Ogden against John Ogden, lumber worker. She says that though he earns $5 a day she has been obliged to seek aid from friends.

Tells of Sacrifice of Stanford Professor

A letter mentioning the sacrifice which Professor Samuel S. Seward of Leland Stanford Junior University made to get into war service has been received by Columbia University from the director of the Columbia Service Bureau in Paris. The letter states, in part:

"Lieutenant Samuel S. Seward left a professorship at Stanford University for ambulance service and is now employing his trained and cultivated intelligence to a course in a school for ambulance and camion drivers."

Lieutenant Seward is a graduate of Columbia University, whence nearly 11,000 men have gone into some form of war service.

BLIND, DEAF,
BUT HEARING
MAY RETURN

The same medical science which restored the eyesight of Tom Skelly, blind since birth, may bring back the hearing of "Sammy" Bean, blind and deaf pupil at the California School for the Deaf and Blind in Berkeley.

Hope is seen for the restoration of "Sammy's" hearing by Dr. R. F. Robie, osteopath physician of Oakland, who declares that there is a good chance that the boy may once again hear the sound of a human voice.

It was through the publication of poems written by "Sammy" Bean in "The TRIBUNE" in which the youth poured forth all the yearnings of a soul in darkness and silence that Dr. Robie, touched by the lad's pitiful plight, began his treatment. A careful examination this week of the boy's condition showed abnormal cords and muscles on "Sammy's" neck which, according to Dr. Robie, may have caused deafness. These, Dr. Robie hopes to restore to their normal condition and in this way effect a restoration of the youth's hearing.

STILL UNCERTAIN. "As yet it is all an uncertain problem whether the boy's hearing will be restored," says Dr. Robie. "That there is a good chance he will hear again is certain or I would not undertake his treatment. It is more than likely that if these cords on his neck are restored to their normal condition that he will hear again."

While the treatment to be used in seeking to restore "Sammy's" hearing is not identical with that which brought back the sight of Tom Skelly, wounded Anzac soldier, in the east recently, the methods are dominated by the same theory, according to Dr. Robie.

So far but two treatments have been given the lad but with encouraging results already shown by these high hopes is held by Dr. Robie that his labors may not prove in vain. Bean, who is now 20 years old, lost both his hearing and his sight when a lad of 12 he was struck on the head by a baseball. According to physicians there is no hope for the restoration in any part of his sight, one of his eyes having been removed and the other totally destroyed as a result of the accident.

Joy at the prospects of getting back his hearing is expressed by "Sammy" in his silent language of the deaf and in following sentences: "If only my hearing is restored, blindness will be as nothing," he says. The youth is being escorted to and from his visits to the doctor's office by his teacher and closest companion, Miss Mary Heath Eastman, through whose untiring efforts "Sammy" was accorded his first communication with the world after his sight and hearing were lost.

GLASS UNDOUBTED. Despite his double handicap, "Sammy" Bean is accorded the distinction of being the most brilliant pupil at the state blind and deaf school as well as the most skilled mechanic in the workshops. His unusual ability and deftness with his hands was shown recently when the school was carrying out a contract for tying and splicing tent ropes for the government. Where a seeing person possessed of all his faculties spliced but 80 ropes per hour working at top speed, "Sammy" accomplished 120.

IDENTITY OF DEAD WOMAN
QUESTIONED

Whether Honora N. Peele, recently deceased Oakland woman who left an estate of $300,000, was really the person she is assumed to be or whether she was some one else, is one of the questions raised by the contest of the will which sought to give all the estate to Protestant charitable organizations in Hamilton, Canada.

The San Francisco Trust Company, administrator of the estate, has set up the claim that the deceased was not, as claimed by the heirs, a member of the Cahill family, of Hamilton, and that for this reason the fifteen claimants who seek to inherit as cousins are not in fact related in any way to the deceased.

There has been found in Hamilton no record of the birth of Honora Cahill, and there is no history of the deceased as such in Canada. The heirs claim that in 1844 Hamilton was a pioneer settlement and the vital records are not complete, although they have introduced evidence of the birth of other members of the Cahill family. The heirs claim that as a baby, Honora disappeared, and was found again at the age of six years in Cleveland, Ohio, from which place they have traced her life through a name of romance until her death in Oakland two years ago.

From Ohio the history of the deceased leads to England and the European capitals where her beauty and talent made her the center of Bohemian life. From Europe she went to the Far East and came to San Francisco in the early days from Hongkong, bringing a fortune of $200,000.

The evidence in the case has all been finally presented and the questions will be argued before Judge Joseph S. Koford, May 20. During today's session nine attorneys represented the various interests. The will sought to dispose of the estate to the Protestant charitable organizations of Hamilton, but the heirs began a contest and judgment was in their favor for two-thirds of the estate. Then it was set up that there are no charities in Hamilton that can qualify as Protestant, and it was so held. Judge Koford has admitted further testimony on that phase and the Salvation Army of Canada, Incorporated, is now contending that they are qualified to receive the bequest.

The administrators make a point in their contention that there is a mistake in identity of the fact that the deceased was not a Roman Catholic, whereas the Cahills were and are still devout members of that faith.

CROSS GET FULL RECOGNITION

The same recognition for the nurses serving their country as is now given to all other members of Uncle Sam's great service army was advocated at the regular meeting of the Merchants Exchange last night. Following a plea that everything possible be done for the nurses and that among other things a service flag be set aside for them as is done for all the other arms of the service, the secretary of the exchange was instructed to write to Washington and ask that the necessary action be taken.

Harry G. Williams, past president of the exchange, introduced the project and many of the directors spoke in favor. It is expected that the other civic and commercial organizations of the east bay cities will join with the exchange in this matter.

RECEIVES RATING. Edward R. Ellis of Oakland is stationed at the present time with the 328th Aero Squadron of the Aviation Section Signal Corps at Kelly field, South San Antonio, Texas, and has recently received his rating as sergeant, first class. He is also quite prominent in athletics and is acting as captain of the squadron team. Before his enlistment he resided at 1437 First avenue and was employed by the J. A. Munro Company.

He represented the various interests. The will sought to dispose of the estate to the Protestant charitable organizations of Hamilton, but the heirs began a contest and judgment was in their favor for two-thirds of the estate. Then it was set up that there are no charities in Hamilton that can qualify as Protestant, and it was so held. Judge Koford has admitted further testimony on that phase and the Salvation Army of Canada, Incorporated, is now contending that they are qualified to receive the bequest.

The administrators make a point in their contention that there is a mistake in identity of the fact that the deceased was not a Roman Catholic, whereas the Cahills were and are still devout members of that faith.

The evidence in the case has all been finally presented and the questions will be argued before Judge Joseph S. Koford, May 20. During today's session nine attorneys represented the various interests. The will sought to dispose of the estate to the Protestant charitable organizations of Hamilton, but the heirs began a contest and judgment was in their favor for two-thirds of the estate. Then it was set up that there are no charities in Hamilton that can qualify as Protestant, and it was so held. Judge Koford has admitted further testimony on that phase and the Salvation Army of Canada, Incorporated, is now contending that they are qualified to receive the bequest.

The administrators make a point in their contention that there is a mistake in identity of the fact that the deceased was not a Roman Catholic, whereas the Cahills were and are still devout members of that faith.

SOCIETY AND PUGILISM
DO NOT MIX

By LAURA BRIDE POWERS.

Society and pugilism don't mix.

So saith some four thousand avast-oakland men last night as they filed sadly out of the Municipal Auditorium, after a Browningsque evening with the gloves, a jazz band and boxes filled with the women who are standing back of the Defenders' Club. The benefit had been planned weeks ago by the War Camp Community Service, and sprung upon the women of the Defenders' Club late last week.

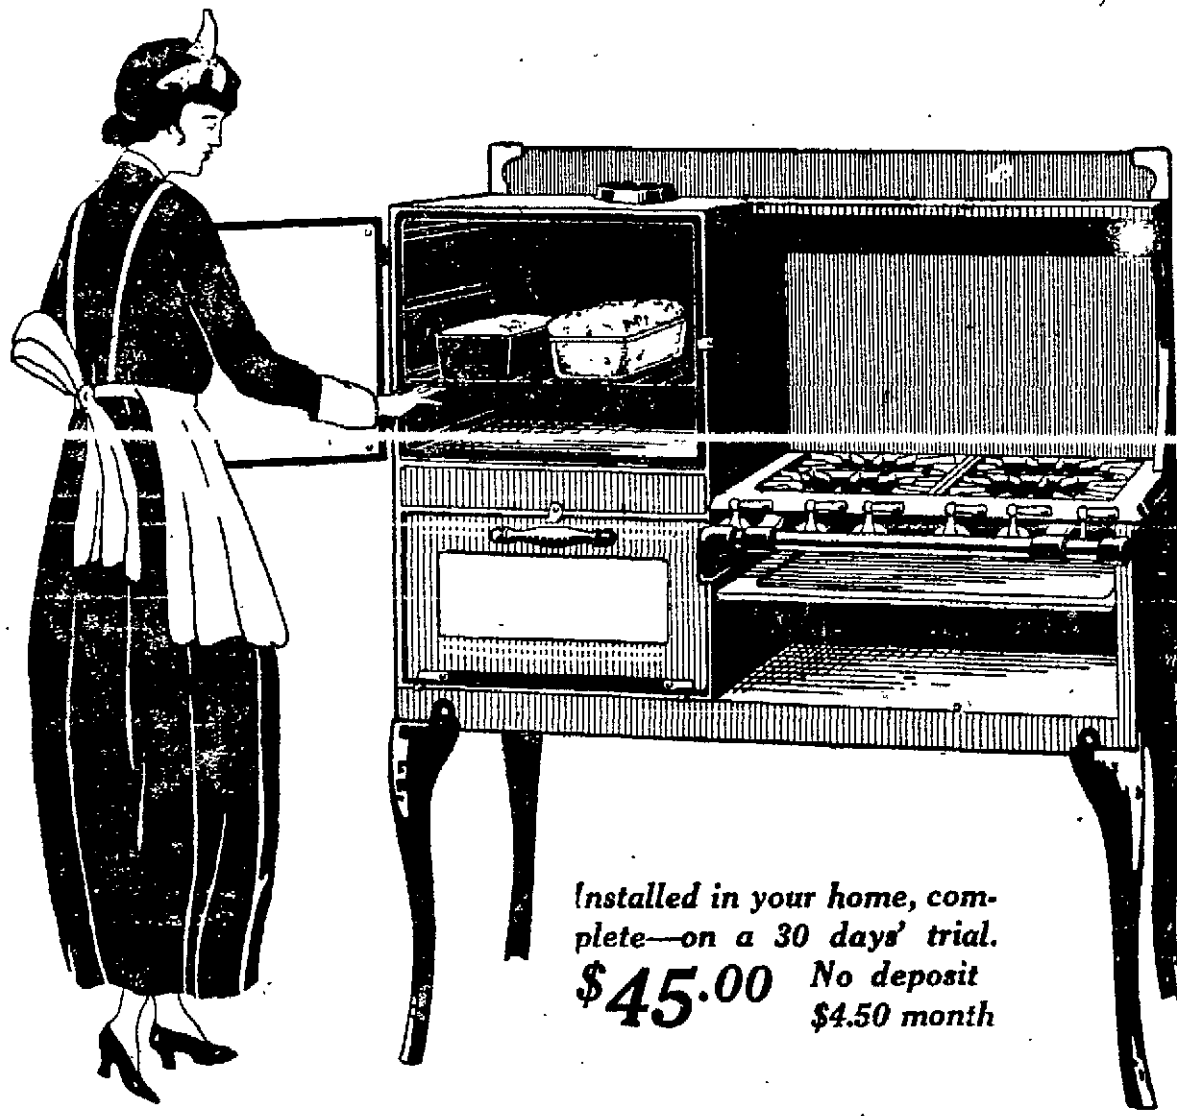

Would they endorse it? Since the club needed the money, after much conferring and consulting, they said they would, and they were as good as their word. They were there—a good third of the Piedmont social register and of Oakland's as well, frocked and hatted in tailor fashion, looking as irascible as chief mourners at a funeral—with the exception of a group of debutantes who came with a group of beaux from Yerba Buena, there for a good cause.

"Where are the sponges and buckets—and the gore?" asked the little blonde. "Why, nothing happened."

Nothing of interest pugilistically happened. It was a coats-on, hats off party, with a flare-up now and then when the boxers seemed to come to life for a few seconds.

But things did happen financially. The announcement from across the bay that Willie Ritchie would not appear, because of a sprained hand, or Bennie Leonard go into a contest undoubtedly reduced the attendance.

So, after deliberation, perhaps the presence of the feminine contingent of the smart set was not wholly responsible for the pink-tea affair, albeit it had its "uplifting influence."

There is no sound reason why you should have to pay more when buying on the time payment plan than when paying all cash—and it isn't dignified. A cash discount always amounts to the same thing as an overcharge for the privilege of buying on time.

Jackson's is a one-price store—and you can buy here as low for credit as you can anywhere for all cash. That's why we advertise "Dignified Credit." We want you to compare our prices and credit system with others—satisfy yourself. Every article we sell is plainly marked and sold for that one price only—whether you buy on time or pay cash.

Secretary McAdoo says—
"The slogan now should be 'Keep your Liberty Bond during the period of the war, at least.'"
